Urges Bishops To Share In Its Government

Vast Reform In Catholic Worship Decreed By Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI decreed a vast reform of Roman Catholic worship today, called on the bishops of his church to share with him in its government, and then announced he would make an historic trip to the Holy Land next month.

The 66-year-old Roman Catholic ruler, in office scarcely five months, took the actions at a momentous closing meeting in St. Peter's Basilica of the second session of his Ecumenical Council.

He and his bishops gave Roman Catholicism its first two councilor decrees in 93 years—one on liturgy, the other on mass communications — and then recessed the council until September.

But Pope Paul made clear that the nine-month recess would not be an idle period. He told the council's drafting commissions to rework all pending documents so that they might be completed at the assembly's next session.

The pontiff told the prelates the primary aim of their gathering was to set forth how they share with him, and under him, church government.

In an exhortation obviously aimed at conservative prelates who oppose the concept of shared power, he said:

"The episcopacy is not an institution independent of, or separated from, or still less antagonistic to, the supreme pontificate of Peter. But with Peter (the Pope) and under him it strives for the common good and supreme end (goal) of the Church. The coordinated hierarchy will thus be strengthened, not undermined; its inner collaboration will be increased, not lessened; its apostolic effectiveness enhanced, not impeded; its mutual charity stirred up, not stifled.

"We are sure that on a subject of such importance the council will have much to say that will bring consolation and light..."

Pope Paul in his prepared text did not mention the word "collegiality"—the term applied to the concept of shared papal-episcopal power. But his words clearly put him on the side of progressive prelates favoring the concept.

A council test vote Oct. 30 showed council members favored the concept 6-1. But an impasse developed when conservative prelates in key positions on council commissions refused to accept the vote as binding on the writing of council documents.

The Pope Tuesday extended the power to act in a limited number of fields without reference to the Vatican. That action implied support for collegiality. Today his words were a clearer expression of support.

The Pope promulgated the liturgy decree after the council accepted it by a vote of 2,147-4.

The document was Roman Catholicism's first councilar decree since a Vatican council

Pope Slates January Visit To Holy Land

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI will visit the Holy Land in January, the Vatican press office announced today.

It will be the first trip by a Roman Catholic pontiff outside Italy in 159 years, since December 1804, when Pope Pius VII went to Paris to crown Napoleon.

It also will be the longest trip ever made by a Pope.

Blueprint For Congress

Johnson Admits Budget May Reach $100 Billion

Rights Bill Periled By House Plan

Petition Seeks To Pry Measure Loose From Rules Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—A plan by House leaders to resort to a petition in an effort to pry the civil rights bill out of the Rules Committee is threatening the bill's shaky bipartisan backing.

Most Republican members oppose on principle the idea of bypassing committees by getting a majority of the House members to sign a petition, and have little sympathy with the drive getting under way to move the civil rights bill to the floor in such a manner.

Meanwhile, civil rights leaders gather today in what was described as "an extraordinary session" to discuss means of implementing President Johnson's appeal for quick action on civil rights legislation.

The group—including Roy Wilkins of the NAACP and Dr. Martin Luther King—is expected to represent more than 70 organizations and plans to hold a closed meeting before visiting President Kennedy's grave in Arlington National Cemetery.

To speed up House action on the bill, Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said Tuesday plans are going ahead to have a discharge petition filed Monday. Democratic leaders are hoping to have a large number of Democrats sign up at once.

They would like to get as many as 150 signatures by Tuesday, in which case they feel Republicans would be under heavy public pressure to supply the rest of the names needed to reach 218—a majority.

Such a strategy is almost certain to produce resentment among Republicans who support the civil rights bill, but who have never signed a discharge petition and never plan to.

They contend that Republicans have done enough to help get a civil rights bill to make them immune from such pressures.

Discussions Set On Economy, Rights And National Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sets his sights today on a federal budget pared to "the lowest possible level," but has conceded the spending blueprint he sends Congress next month may reach a record $100 billion or more.

The economy, plus civil rights and national unity — the three keynotes of the new administration—were on the White House agenda today.

To discuss the health of the economy—and also to make an appeal for support—the President summoned representatives of labor and big business to the White House.

Meetings were scheduled for late afternoon with members of the AFL-CIO Executive Committee and representatives of the Business Advisory Council.

Johnson also planned to talk with James Farmer, director of the Congress of Racial Equality, and to attend a ceremony honoring Secret Service agent Rufus Youngblood.

Youngblood, who shielded Johnson with his body after the shots rang out that killed John F. Kennedy, will be cited for bravery.

Pressing his economy drive, Johnson conferred again Tuesday with Budget Director Kermit Gordon and his deputy, Elmer Staats.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the Budget Bureau is launching "an agency by agency, department by department examination of the budget."

Salinger said Johnson will hear the appeals of any federal department heads who protest they are not getting enough money in the new budget, which will cover the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Kennedy had sliced the budget from requests submitted by federal agencies, Salinger said, and "President Johnson is attempting to cut that budget further."

"The attempt is to arrive at a budget between $98 billion and $103 billion," Salinger said.

At Reorganization

City Group Asks Aid For Planning

Formal application for federal assistance for urban planning was authorized by the East Liverpool Planning Commission which reorganized Tuesday night after reappointment of Don Eckert, E. L. Wheatley and George Steele to the commission.

In line with state requirements that the commission be reduced from seven to five members, Mayor Bert Goodballet appointed the three previous members to the board.

JUDGE LOUIS Tobin, chairman of the Thompson Park Board, was eliminated from reappointment because state laws require the representative be from a park group which has jurisdiction over all city recreation sites.

Mayor Goodballet expressed concern that William Rea, previous member, was not appointed because of the need to reduce the size of the commission. He said he selected the three men earliest named to the commission. The mayor also suggested Rea be named recording secretary.

In the reorganization, Eckert —who was named to a six-year term to the commission—was elected chairman, Rea, secretary, and Robert Garner, associate secretary. Garner had been secretary.

Wheatley's term is for four years, and Steele's for two years.

THE mayor and safety-service director are designated members by virtue of their office. Mayor-elect Merrill Hall attended the meeting.

The commission formally approved previous actions which City Solicitor Joseph Cooper said were advisable to give full legal authority to resolutions and contracts within state regulations.

Discussion was held on a proposed economic base survey recommended by Carroll V. Hill Associates of Pittsburgh and Columbus, planning consultant retained by the commission. The proposal would permit the Regional Planning Commission to participate under the city program, providing federal funds for a countywide survey which the city could utilize.

However, because the Regional Planning Commission is not yet fully organized, the city group agreed to file its application for federal aid for urban planning immediately in order to obtain the assistance as soon as possible in expediting the planning project.

IT WAS agreed that the recommendation be presented to Regional Planning Commission for possible future participation when the regional group is fully organized.

A meeting of the city commission will be held next week, possibly Wednesday, if Carroll Hill of Hill Associates is available, to further discuss technical needs for the planning surveys. The group meets in the mayor's office.

4 New Lights To Be Erected At Wellsville

Councilmen Enact Measures On Funds For Radio Purchase

Wellsville City Council Tuesday night ordered the installation of four new street lights and gave final reading to three pieces of legislation, one to provide part of the money for the purchase of police and fire department radios.

The new street lights will be located on Center St. between 14th and 15th Sts., in the alley behind the Daw Junior High School, on Maple Alley between 3rd and 4th Sts. and in Cherry Alley.

Council authorized Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare to contact the Ohio Power Co. to have the lights installed.

Council adopted legislation amending the parking meter ordinance to allow the funds to be used to purchase radio equipment and another appropriating $3,000 from the fund toward the purchase.

Council also adopted legislation authorizing the purchase of land in the flood wall pondage area off Danbury Ave. at a total cost of $640.

Council discussed offering free parking during the Christmas season. Most feel that it would hinder business as all-day parkers would take up the metered space. Council agreed to check with the merchants to obtain their opinions. Three full days and four part days of free meter parking were given in 1962.

Councilman Donald Miller and Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, clerk, was absent. Councilman Allen Baldwin served as clerk in his wife's absence.

Councilman Frank DeLonzo, property chairman, said he had been contacted by a person interested in leasing a piece of city-owned land along the super-

Cold Will Continue, New Light Snow Due

Temperatures dipped last night and there was a skim of light snow and that will be the weather outlook again through Thursday.

The mercury didn't fall as low as expected — the downtown had 27 at 6 a. m. — but the Ohio weatherman said it may drop to 19 to 26 tonight. An overnight low of possibly 17 had been forecast last night.

Today's high may not go above freezing and tomorrow will continue cold. The snow flurries during the night added up to a light addition to hilltop areas but downtown streets showed little.

Temperatures moderated slightly across Northern areas and fairly heavy snow fell in northern New England but most of the nation's weather pattern today showed only minor changes.

20 Enterings Charged To 2 Nabbed Here

Twenty Summit County burglaries have been linked to two Akron area men taken into custody in St. Clair Township early Sunday in connection with the breaking and entering of an East Liverpool tavern 24 hours earlier, Lt. William E. McDaniel said today.

Because of a continuing investigation in Summit County, preliminary hearings have been postponed in Municipal Court here for Ronald Lee Grady, 24, of Akron and Clifton Martin Gregory, 23, of Barberton, on charges of breaking into Roy's Bar on Dresden Ave.

The two were scheduled tentatively for return to East Liverpool today for arraignment in connection with the local burglary. But they still are under interrogation in Akron and then are to be taken to Barberton for further questioning, Lt. McDaniel said.

The two were arrested at 1:30 a.m. Sunday on Routes 7 and 30 near Substation by Deputy Sheriffs Herman Wellman and Dave Brothers at the request of East Liverpool police. That led to recovery of merchandise that linked the two to the Dresden Ave. tavern burglary and enterings in Summit County, Lt. McDaniel explained.

The two were released to Akron authoities after they had

Boys Nabbed On 30 Thefts In City Stores

Youngsters 13, 14, Due Hearings For Thefts In 5 Places

Two Beechwood area boys, 13 and 14, are due for hearings Thursday at 2 p. m. before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon on charges they stole 30 articles from five downtown stores on three shop-lifting forays last week, Capt. Robert H. Pyle said today.

The boys were taken into custody Tuesday afternoon after an investigation by Capt. Pyle and Patrolman Kenneth H. Mooney. Most of the stolen items were recovered at spots where they had been buried by the boys, the captain said.

The boys admitted thefts at the McCrory and Woolworth Stores, King's Bargain Center, J. C. Penney Co. and Montgom-

Crucible To Expand Plant In New York

The Crucible Steel Co. of America has announced plans to construct a new $6 million rod and bar mill at its Sanderson-Halcomb works, Syracuse, N. Y., as part of a continuing program for the modernization and expansion.

Crucible said it would let contracts "as soon as possible" for the new mill and the erection of a new building to house it at the plant site opposite the State Fair Grounds. The new mill is expected to be in operation early in 1965.

The announcement follows disclosure of plans to spend $10 million in improvements at the Midland Works.

Earlier this year, Sanderson-Halcomb completed a 26-inch reversing mill and other facilities at a cost of nearly $3 million. The new installation will further process the product of that mill.

Weirton Policeman Will Run For Sheriff

WEIRTON — Sgt. Joseph Rodak of the Weirton Police Department has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination as Hancock County sheriff in the May primary election.

He was police chief during the administration of Mayor David T. Frew until his demotion in September 1961.

Rodak is the first to formally announce for the post of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny, Democrat, who cannot seek re-election under state law.

Hancock Site To Be Named For Kennedy

Hancock County commissioners moved Tuesday to establish the first memorial in the area to the late President John F. Kennedy.

Meeting in the Courthouse in New Cumberland, commissioners gave formal approval to a proposal that the old lock site at Newell be named the "John F. Kennedy Recreation Park."

The former site of Dam 8 on the Ohio River, the property has been converted into a recreation area by the federal government, and deeded to the county for public use.

William C. Graham of Chester, Democratic commissioner, said a plaque will be erected in the riverfront park in memory of the assassinated president, who visited Hancock County in the Presidential campaign of 1960.

Plans also call for a large sign to be erected at the park entrance along Route 66.

Commissioners said shelters and picnic tables will be erected in the park in the spring, along with automatic lights. A night watchman has been employed.

The U. S. Army Engineers of Pittsburgh completed work on a $100,000 project of converting the old lock site into a picnic area this summer and fall. The lock buildings were razed and the area seeded with grass.

Chester Vote Set Feb. 4 On Fee For Park

Councilmen Order Special Election On Fund Proposal

A special election in February for a proposed 50-cent Chester service charge on homes to raise funds for the City Park was authorized by Council at a meeting Tuesday night at the City Hall.

Tentative plans call for the election to be held Feb. 4 with the City Hall as the sole voting place.

The Central Park Committee, which has proposed the election, said there would be little expense entailed because the committee will furnish volunteer poll workers.

The primary city expense would be for printing ballots.

Discussion was held on whether there should be more than one voting site for the convenience of voters, and it was decided the matter would be left to the Park Commission to determine.

The 50-cent monthly charge would be made on each dwelling. Originally, the charge was to be levied against water customers, but it was pointed out

Home Of History, Warmth

Mrs. Kennedy Will Move To New Address Friday

WASHINGTON (AP)—A home with a history and a warmth, filled with the art she loves, will greet Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy when she walks into her borrowed Georgetown residence Friday.

The new address for the former First Lady—3038 N St.—is a three-story red brick dwelling with plenty of room. Undersecretary of State and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman, who own the house, have turned it over to the former First Lady and her children and have moved into a hotel.

From the entrance hallway, with etchings by Picasso and Matisse in the stairwell, to the picturesque dormered third floor bedrooms, it is furnished for elegant and comfortable living.

The dining room seats up to 18 comfortably.

There are fireplaces in all but one room and the house contains a collection of French, English and Chinese lacquer furniture and Lowestoft china. And the art collection would be the pride of a museum.

In the rear is a spacious, block-long walled and terraced garden, with boxwood and magnificent magnolia trees and a swimming pool.

As she walks over the two Iranian rugs (gift of the shah) in the entrance hallway, past a Louis XV console with a big carved mirror of the same period of France's grandeur, Mrs. Kennedy will be in an atmosphere not unlike what she created in the White House.

The history books of Georgetown indicate this house dates back to the same period as the mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. which Mrs. Kennedy is vacating after almost three years.

It is said to have been built in 1800, the same year President John Adams moved into the unfinished White House.

2 Inquiries Raise Prospect

U.S. May Hear Evidence Before Ruby Trial Starts

DALLAS (AP) — People throughout the nation saw Jack Ruby kill the accused slayer of President Kennedy and they're likely to hear nearly all the evidence before Ruby's murder trial ever starts.

Steps to set two formal inquiries in motion raised this prospect today on the heels of an eight-week postponement of the Ruby case, originally set for Dec. 9. The new date is Feb. 3, fixed Tuesday by District Judge Joe B. Brown because the prosecution and defense said they needed more time.

Fresh information came to light, meanwhile, about Lee H. Oswald, the 24-year-old Marxist charged with the Kennedy assassination, and Ruby, 52, a Dallas night spot owner who gunned down Oswald before national television viewers just two days later.

In Washington, a former Marine Crops lieutenant in whose unit Oswald served for a time, John E. Donovan, said Oswald's military discharge and departure for Russia in 1959 caused a stir.

"That compromised all our secret radio frequencies, call signs and authentication codes," said Donovan, now a physics teacher in a private school. "He knew the location of every unit on the West Coast and the radar capacity of every installation. We had to spend thousands of man-hours changing everything..."

It was learned in Dallas that the Internal Revenue Service is trying to collect $20,880 from Ruby through four liens filed with the county clerk. The government claims he failed to pay all the taxes he owed and the liens cloud title to any property he holds until they are paid.

An apartment house manager in Dallas, Miss Dean Roberts, said a man who placed a newspaper advertisement demanding answers to a dozen questions from the Kennedy administration the day of the assassination has left town.

Ex-Midland Woman Dies In House Fire

A former Midland woman, 45, died of smoke inhalation and burns Tuesday night when an explosion and fire swept through her one-story frame home on 7th St., Beaver.

Mrs. Agnes Sebring was pronounced dead on arrival at the Rochester General Hospital, where her husband, Samuel Sebring, also injured, was listed in "fairly good" condition. Cause of the blast was unknown.

Mrs. Sebring was born May 28, 1918, in Midland, daughter of John Moran, who died in 1962, and Mrs. Margaret Cavanaugh Moran of Midland.

She resided in Beaver for 21 years and was a member of the Sts. Peter and Paul Roman Catholic Church.

Besides her mother and husband, she leaves two brothers, Patrick A. Moran of East Liverpool and Thomas J. Moran of Toronto.

Friends may call at the J. T. Anderson Jr. Funeral Home, 205 College Ave., Beaver, Thursday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. A Requium High Mass will be held at the church Friday at 9 a.m. by Fr. Marcus O'Brian.

Burial will be in Beaver Cemetery.

Decision For Lyndon B. Johnson

One day soon the new President of the United States must make a decision as No. 1 man in the Democratic party. It will have heavy bearing on his responsibilities as chief executive of the United States.

Will he expose himself as party leader to the same hazards that finally caught up to his martyred predecessor? Or will he widen the margin of security that surrounds all presidents but was not wide enough to save the life of President Kennedy?

In the 19th century, our chief executives had little, often no, protection. In the 20th century, after the assassination of President McKinley, more precautions were taken. But, significantly, they were taken against presidential will.

CALVIN COOLIDGE liked to play games with his Secret Service protectors, to throw them off the track. Franklin D. Roosevelt was a special security problem because of his paralysis. His wartime penchant for "inspection" trips in open cars were worrisome.

Dwight D. Eisenhower exposed himself to extreme hazard on trips to foreign countries, where his security was the responsibility of his hosts. President Kennedy was fond of mingling in crowds.

Why do presidents risk their safety? Why don't they do what their Secret Service guards want them to do?

Because they are politicians as well as presidents.

President Kennedy was starting his 1964 campaign. He had been in Florida and then had gone to Texas. He lost Florida in 1960 and was in danger of losing Texas in 1964. He wanted to be seen by as many Texans as possible. The Democratic party was in turmoil. He was on a fence-mending expedition.

IF SECRET SERVICE prevailed, no president of the United States would ride in an open car through city streets, mingle with crowds at airports, make a speech from an open-air platform. But the Secret Service will not prevail—not while presidents need votes.

President Johnson has given his guards some bad moments while they were watching over him in the vice presidency. He will have to decide how he intends to proceed from this point forward.

Neither he nor the Secret Service needed to be reminded that in this country of tenously repressed violence all of us are at the mercy of whatever killer may have made the fateful decision to end our lives.

The question is how long the odds against the potential killers of presidents should be. Presidents, themselves, make the decision.

Wall Street Confidence

The financial community expresses its politics in terms of shares, rather than ballots.

The initial reaction of the New York Stock Exchange must be taken as a sturdy vote of confidence in the presidency of Lyndon B. Johnson. The Dow-Jones industrial average climbed a record-breaking 32.03 points on Nov. 26, and on the following day the market appeared steady.

The U.S. government bond market was firm on the first trading day of the Johnson presidency. The business community apparently believes a Johnson administration will be friendly, just as it believed—perhaps to its disadvantage in the case of this year's tax bill—that the Kennedy administration was hostile.

The market turned up after the assassination of President McKinley and after President Wilson's collapse. After the death of President Harding in 1923, it held strong, and then rose, only to fall again.

The immediate upturn after President Franklin D. Roosevelt's cerebral hemorrhage might have been anticipated, as might the 32-point plunge after President Eisenhower's heart attack.

THE STOCK MARKET is expected to anticipate political trends and discount them. Here's how the market has reacted in 16 presidential election years since the turn of the century:

Before conventions: Up 7 times; down 6 times; little change 3 times.

Between conventions and elections: Up 8 times; down 4 times; little change 4 times. After elections: Up 9 times; down 7 times.

On the day following the election of President Kennedy three years ago, Nov. 9, the gain was only slight. But the market scored that year's biggest rise to date on Nov. 10.

Viewed with a wider range, over a year after the election, the New York Stock Exchange rose after the election of four Democrats (Roosevelt twice; 1932, 1944; Truman, 1948; Kennedy, 1960) and fell after the election of three Democrats (Wilson, 1916; Roosevelt twice, 1936-40).

In the case of five G.O.P. victories, stock market prices rose twice (Coolidge, 1924; Hoover, 1928) and fell twice (Harding, 1920; Eisenhower, 1956). A year after the first election of President Eisenhower, the market showed little change.

The market seems less Republican-orientated than it is generally believed to be. In all candor, there is little accounting for its movements, which Bernard Baruch has likened to "the migrations of birds or the mass performances of whole species of ocean eels."

Analysts appear to agree that the selling on the Friday of the assassination was by the panicked public; the buying on Tuesday was by professionals.

For Scientific Achievement

One of the early excuses for getting Washington back into a mood of controversy will be Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer's possession of the $50,000 Fermi award, which he received Monday from the hands of President Johnson.

The bestowal had been scheduled for the late President Kennedy, who was believed to welcome a chance of offset the stigma placed on Dr. Oppenheimer when he was found to be a security risk and suspended from Atomic Energy Commission work in 1953-1954.

That was a raging, red-hot controversy while it lasted, replete with charges that intimidated the friends of Dr. Oppenheimer, who was accused of sympathy with Communist organizations and who admitted that he had made foolish associations because of his personal lack of political sophistication.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, vice chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee at that time, is still on the scene and still not sold on the Oppenheimer qualifications of citizenship.

But that may be the whole point of the controversy over this highly respected scientist. No one ever said the Fermi award was to be given for citizenship. The award was established in 1954 by Congress with the thought that it should go to persons who had made extraordinary contributions to development of atomic energy. It is probable that many of them may know no more about politics and ideology than a turkey knows about Thanksgiving — or than Robert Oppenehimer knew about Communists.

Enrico Fermi himself was a political innocent — an Italian scientific genius who was helped to come to the United States because this country needed his knowledge of nuclear physics, not his ideas about politics.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I point this out as one of the founders of the club of First Lady Admirers. Following the first reaction of shock and anguish after President Kennedy was killed, the next strong reaction was a surge of admiration for Jacqueline Kennedy, who behaved throughout like the great lady she is.

One of these days when one of those shotgun mikes is pointed at a cluster of football players during a tight game there is going to be a spatter of the language for which football players are noted—and the wires will burn out.

It is an oddity of our era that the Ecumenical Congress is one of the few things about it that will be historically important yet proceedings of this great gathering of churchmen are so difficult to describe that posterity will know more about them than contemporaries.

I am still waiting to see one of those high-style dresses they were describing late last summer—with necklines plunging down to here and expanding laterally all the way out to here. But perhaps it's just as well, because I doubt if I'm ready for style that high.

My common sense is offended by the statement that "we" expose our presidents to danger. The opposite is true. Our presidents expose themselves to danger. They want their countrymen to feel close to them. John F. Kennedy gave his Secret Service guards fits by mingling with crowds and had made a trip to Texas for the express purpose of being seen by as many Texans as could crowd close to him.

One of the things I'm waiting to hear explained is the boom in church construction. Never have I seen so many churches built in such a short time, and I am sure it reflects a financial condition of widespread significance.

I have found ready agreement with my view in this column that most Americans do not believe in a two-party system of government and would obliterate the other party if they ever had a chance.

I have never had anything on the top of my desk except ulitarian objects. But one weekend last summer I picked up a chunk of obsidian (Volcanic glass) in Rosy Fingered Dawn and brought it to the office as a reminder of home. Since then I have explained hundreds of times where it came from and that it isn't coal, licorice, uranium, a precious stone, or anything really unusual.

There is one thing about the late President Kennedy I can say with more sincerity than anything else. He and his lady had class rarely seen in our White House, and those who feel this way are not expecting to see their kind again for a long time, if ever.

What Can We Expect?

Labor Likes The New First Lady

By Victor Riesel

The new first lady is an old friend of some of the policy-making, vote-getting labor people. Mrs. Claudia "Lady Bird" Johnson has done right well by the President on this front as the following untold stories will reveal.

Victor Riesel

In January 1962, labor's political strategists decided there is no political energy like that of a woman spurred into action. They called a "WAD" national meeting — WAD being the Women's Activities Division of labor's Committee on Political Education.

Some 50 women came into town from what the labor people believed to be 24 pivotal states. It was an important session. But no particular effort was made to publicize it.

Mrs. Johnson learned of the gathering, though it was only one of hundreds of conferences held in Washington.

Within a few hours the labor ladies received invitations from the Johnsons to come to tea at their home, The Elms. The WAD women were delighted.

ON THE DAY of the tea they chartered a bus and started for the Johnsons' in a heavy snow. Somewhere near the house, the bus began to skid. Finally it was halted by an icy stretch. Suddenly a large car arrived. It was Mrs. Johnson's!

She had alerted the police and had asked them to let her know if the bus ran into winter troubles. When word came, Mrs. Johnson dispatched her car with a load of gravel and rock salt. This was spread beneath the wheels. The 52 lady activists arrived safely.

When they got to The Elms, they did not feel themselves strangers. There was no "dead air," no awkwardness. Mrs. Johnson had asked Mrs. Arthur Goldberg to help recieve them. They were separated into groups and shown every inch of the then vice president's home except the kitchen.

A young man from Texas sang. A young lady did her bit at the piano. Mrs. Goldberg talked of "how it felt to be a labor wife in the Cabinet."

Then, as the ladies decided it was time to go, Mrs. Johnson said: Why not wait a few minutes for the vice president?

LYNDON JOHNSON, like any other mortal male, had had a tough day at the office. But he fascinated them with tales of his foreign trips, of working people abroad, of slums and poverty, of his joy at seeing the American flag on his return.

The women activists finally got into the bus. But the driver delayed starting the return trip. He was worried by the condition of the icy, sloping roadway. Noting the delay, Mr. Johnson strode quickly to the vehicle and got inside.

Then, standing in the front part of the bus, the vice president spoke of his youth. He told them of his mother. He said that she had always advised him that if he gave his best, the best would come back to him.

Three weeks later each of the ladies received two or three photos of themselves with "Lady Bird" Johnson, or with the vice president or Mrs. Goldberg. Each name had been carefully checked out. There were no errors in identification.

Some of the Women's Activities Division ladies talked of this the other day. They never forgot her astuteness and graciousness.

MORE POLITICALLY sophisticated labor leaders also have reason to know of her. There was the early morning hour gathering in a New York Hotel Commodore suite the night after the 1960 election.

A group of labor men who had spent considerable time, money and energy in behalf of John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson now were certain they had carried New York State for "the" ticket. The phone rang. Their leader was handed the receiver. Incredulity showed on his face when the caller spoke. It was "Lady Bird". She was phoning long distance to thank them.

Then she put Lyndon Johnson on. Never before had this happened — no first lady or second lady ever had called in this fashion. The union men still talk of it.

And, as recently as June 5, some of them had reason to thank her. Through their intervention, she agreed to be honorary chairman of an Israel Independence celebration. The Iraqi embassy protested. Its charge d'affaires requested her to withdraw. She rebuffed him in a stinging letter.

There have been other moments which have brought her closer to the labor people than the wife of any vice president. Now that she is the first lady, they don't exactly see her as another Mrs. Roosevelt — but they will count on her as a good friend and knowledgeable strategist.

Is Prayer Legal?

By David Lawrence

Presidential Appeals Seen No Governmental Stand

For several months now, the American people have been puzzled as to whether anyone in the government of the United States may, on a formal or official occasion, ask people to pray to God. In fact, ever since the Supreme Court's decision which ruled that public-school teachers could not be directed by state or local governmental authorities to use a particular prayer in the classroom, there has been a question as to what mention of the supreme being would be permissible in official functions.

David Lawrence

It's known, of course, that atheists have been insisting that there should be no semblance of religious worship in the public schools, but many citizens who do believe in God have assumed that the Supreme Court sooner or later would clairify its position and permit voluntary prayers in public schools.

It was, therefore, rather significant to note the frequent references to prayers to God which have been made in public speeches these last few days.

In the address, for instance, which President Lyndon Johnson delivered before the joint session of Congress on Nov. 27, he said.

"On this Thanksgiving eve, as we gather together to ask the Lord's blessing and give Him our thanks, let us unite in those familiar and cherished words: 'America, America, God shed His grace on thee, and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.'"

IN THE Thanksgiving proclamation which had been issued on Nov. 4 to the American people, the late President Kennedy said:

"Over three centuries ago our forefathers in Virginia and in Massachusetts far from home in a lonely wilderness set aside a time for thanksgiving. On the appointed day, they gave reverent thanks for their safety, for the health of their children, for the fertility of their fields, for the laws which bound them together and for the faith which united them under their God.

"So, too, when the colonies achieved their independence, our first president in the first year of his first administration proclaimed Nov. 26, 1789, as 'a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of almighty God' and called upon the people of the new republic to 'beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions . . . to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue . . . and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best.' . . .

"On that day (November 28) let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that He will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice and understanding among all men and all nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist."

ON THANKSGIVING Day, President Johnson spoke over radio and television to the American people. He referred to Mr. Kennedy's proclamation and said:

"Tonight, on this Thanksgiving, I come before you to ask your help, to ask your strength, to ask your prayers that God may guard this republic and guide my every labor. . . .

"On this Thanksgiving Day, as we gather in the warmth of our families, in the mutual love and respect which we have for one another, and as we bow our heads in submission to divine providence, let us also thank God for the years that He gave us inspiration through His servant, John F. Kennedy.

"Let us today renew our dedication to the ideals that are American. Le us pray for His divine wisdom in banishing from our land any injustice or intolerance or oppression to any of our fellow Americans, whatever their opinion, whatever the color of their skins — for God made all of us, not some of us, in His image. All of us, not just some of us, are His children.

"And, finally, to you as your President, I ask that you remember your country and remember me each day in your prayers, and I pledge to you the best within me to work for a new American greatness, a new day when peace is more secure, when justice is more universal, when freedom is more strong in every home of all mankind."

These numerous references to prayer and to the deity, coming as they do from the highest official in the government of the United States, are bound to be regarded by many people as proof that to mention God or to refer in public speeches to prayer is not to be construed as "an establishment of religion" in the sense in which the Constitution uses the phrase.

INDEED, there are many citizens who feel that while prayers of any kind can, of course, be said in the home or in churches or in public meetings, the recent trend which would banish any religious exercises in the public schools can only, in the long run, mean that opportunities will be missed to teach public - school students the foundations of morality and good behavior.

Chief Justice Warren, in his comment on the assassination of President Kennedy, declared it was "a result of the hatred and bitterness that has been injected into the life of our nation by bigots." And he said in conclusion, "May God protect our nation in this hour of crisis."

While people generally will wish to see hatred and bigotry eliminated from community life, they will also recognize that such a Utopian mood will not come unless school children, as well as grown-ups, are more deeply imbued with the Golden Rule mentioned in the Bible and the spirit of conciliation which is so necessary to solve the troublous problems of a free republic.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

On Friday, Nov. 22, a great tragedy occurred. The 35th president of the United States, John F. Kennedy, was brutally slain by an assassin's bullet in Dallas, Tex.

This death affected not only the family and friends of the Kennedys', but the whole nation as well. The man-in-the-street was utterly dismayed and stunned at the first report of the hideous crime. As more bulletins came to inform the public, their disbelief transfigured itself to horror and outrage that such a catastrophe could raise its ugly head right under the noses of the protective secret servicemen.

Churches all over the nation were affected to such a degree that ministers, priests and rabbis changed their sermons and the like to the topic of the assassination, and the whole country became as one on the following Monday; mourning for the late President, and with his stricken widow and family.

All schools were canceled, but the usual delight of an unanticipated vacation was not there. In its place was a feeling of reverence as the public, from the older folk to the youngest infant, paid homage to the youngest, but most challenged president, the nation of America had had the privilege of being led by.

My own personal experience was one of shock. In my church, which is the Trinity United Presbyterian, we observed a lengthy, solemn service, and it was as if God was shushing even the smallest child's murmur.

It is truly a sad and terrible forfeit that the whole world has to pay because of the actions of a fanatical man who needed, obviously, the help of psychologist, and or other professional guidance. He was a lost being with a warped fixed idea, whom was searching for himself when he got involved with the pro-Castro tribe of savages. He, apparently, never matured, and was like, very much, the untrained sibling; trying out any opportunities that appeal, in the slightest, to him.

I thank God that the man is dead and his search has finally ended.

Not only do I pray for the preservation of the soul of President Kennedy, but also for mercy on the soul of Oswald, whom was not the master of his faculties.

Levy Support Of $73 Listed At Wellsville

A committee comprised of the presidents of Parent - Teacher Associations in the Wellsville School District spent $73.95 in campaigning for support of two levies at the Nov. 5 general election, according to a report filed with the County Election Board.

Filed by Supt. Lowell B. Myers, chairman of the committee, the report showed total receipts of $90 and a balance of $16.05 following the campaign.

Donations of $20 each were received from the PTA's at Garfield, MacDonald, Fairview and Daw Junior High School, with a $10 donation from the McKinley PTA, the report showed. It listed refunds to be made on a pro rata basis.

The committee campaigned in support of levies of 6.8 and 5.4 mills, which were approved.

Meanwhile, the expense reports also were filed by two men who sought seats on the Wellsville Board of Education.

Charles W. Glass said he spent $2.50. Earl A. Bake reported no expenses.

Frank Gray said he spent $22.24 in a campaign for Liverpool Township trustee.

Dec. 20 at 4 p.m. is the deadline for the reports, required under the "Corrupt Practices Act."

They must be filed by all candidates, whether or not they were successful, and by committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

The Election Board warned earlier that failure of any candidate to file automatically bars him from seeking public office again for five years.

Changes Slated In Restaurants On Ohio Pike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Travelers who use the Ohio Turnpike can look forward to cleaner, better-looking restaurants on the toll road.

The Turnpike Commission, meeting here Tuesday, pledged sweeping changes in the restaurants and said most will be ready by May 15.

The commission, reacting to charges about "dirty" restrooms, cluttered plazas and mediocre service, sent its engineering consultants to work two months ago.

Improvements set for completion by May 15 include:

—Change six more restaurants to speedier cafeterias so that half the Turnpike's 16 plazas will have the faster service.

—Refurbish women's restrooms with new tile, paint fixtures and lighting and change some of the men's room furnishings.

—Change furniture and decor in lounges and add new lobby entrances to them.

—Centralize all vending machines in enlarged, uncluttered gift shops.

—Lower dining room ceilings to eliminate the "barn look."

Chairman James W. Shocknessy said work on the improvements will begin as soon as detailed engineering plans are available.

Sheriff Reports 68 Entering County Jail

LISBON — Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said a total of 68 prisoners were received at the County Jail during November, in addition to the 39 already confined as of Nov. 1. Sixty-six prisoners were released during the month, five were conveyed to state institutions and five mental patients were taken to state hospitals. There were 193 visitors.

A total of 3,803 meals were served at a cost of $1,172.49, making the average daily expense per prisoner 92.4 cents.

Sheriff VanFossan said his department served 214 papers, handled 6,565 radio transmissions, along with 1,201 phone calls at the jail. The sheriff's office in the Courthouse accepted 15 sets of fox feet and ears for bounty. Fees totaling $816.49 were collected.

Common Pleas Court Disposes Of 68 Cases

LISBON — Common Pleas Court disposed of 68 cases during November with the docket showing a net increase of three, according to Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey's report to the administrative assistant of the State Supreme Court.

Nov. 1, there were 828 cases pending and 71 new cases were filed for a total of 899. During the month, the disposal of 68 left 831 pending Dec. 1.

Nineteen were tried to court, four were tried to jury, 20 were cognovit and default judgments and 25 were settled and dismissed.

The Court of Appeals Docket added one during the month and now has three cases pending.

Salem Water Plan Opposed

LISBON — Formal organization of the Guilford Lake Civic Association with Charles Gause as president has been launched to block a proposed bid by Salem to use waters of the lake to supplement the city's reservoirs.

William Schuller of Youngstown, owner of a summer cottage at the lake, is vice president, and Paul (Jake) Flugan is secretary - treasurer.

About 50 attended a meeting this week at the fire station at which many expressed the opinion they were not opposed to Salem using the over-flow water of the lake, but felt the operation would lead to greater demands for water at other times.

Salem officials propose to use lake water for the reservoir when the lake level is lowered during the winter. Since state officials ordinarily lower the lake level in November to protect docks and the dam from ice, many residents feel the state will grant permission for the water use.

Lloyd Firth, Joseph Yovanovic and Robert Greenawalt were appointed to draft bylaws for a meeting of the new association Jan. 2.

Bishop Mussio's Due Back Thursday After Vatican Trip

I will be home in Steubenville late Thursday evening, leaving Rome at 10:30 a.m. and arriving in New York at 1:30 p.m. In this, my final report on the second session of the Vatican Council, I would like to speak of several things.

I have read in some newspapers reports that the Council is lagging Other news reports speak of a behind - the - scene struggle for power in the Council.

Let me say again that the power of the Council rests where the mind of the bishops are. The voting shows that the Council bishops are going into the 20th and 21st Centuries with every modern means to make the truth known and understood.

The opposition numbers about 50. The remainnig bishops are not confused, are not school children confused by a change of working in the schemata. They are sharp, practical men. Anything that comes before the Council which they do not like, goes back to committee to be revised, changed reworded to express exactly their thoughts. This has happened to several schemata.

The problem is that the machinery of the Council is not adequate to meet the demands of time. There are 2,400 bishops in Council, each with the right to speak. It is a delicate problem how to cut time and yet preserve the rights of the bishops. Slowly a system is being worked out, whereby we can quicken the action.

This can be done by giving moderators of the assembly the power to cut off those who repeat, to call a close to debate when in their judgment they think the matter has been fully covered. Then they can call for a vote to see if the assembled bishops agree with their decision. We can go faster but we wish to progress prudently.

The Council fathers have been discussing the subject of ecumenism. I believe this schema is one of the finest expresions of true religious thought in this or any previous century of Christian living. Here we find the deepest meaning of that charity which is Christ Himself, expressing itself in a universality of understanding, helpfulness and mutual respect which alone is the key to our being true brothers in the Lord.

The schema on ecumenism will not be a bouquet of pretty words! It will not be a patch of meaningless platitudes! Truth will not be splintered or concealed because of politics or pressure.

We cannot expect our non-Catholic brethren to see us as we want to be seen unless we declare our respect for all who conscientiously follow what they consider to be God's will in their behalf.

It is this true concept of religious liberty which gives us an effective oneness. I believe this subject will be passed by an overwhelming majority. What is being written into this subject will give support to the position of American bishops. Against our efforts have stood the statements of some ecclesiastics of old as well as some shoddy pages of our history of dealing with others.

But this is the Church speaking today. We want the world to hear the voice of the Council on ecumenism. We want men to know that we are their servants in love for all that will bring to them the peace, the security and the hope of and in Him who made us all children of the Family of God.

The Council will give to each Christian a deep satisfaction in knowing that he is living what his Christ preaches . . . love and reverent understanding for men everywhere.

Hearing Slated On Injunction Involving Club

MARION, Ohio (AP) — A hearing is scheduled next Tuesday to determine if a permanent injunction should be issued against a private club charged with illegal sale of liquor.

Common Pleas Court Judge Paul D. Smith issued a temporary injunction Tuesday that ordered the club padlocked.

The action followed supporting affidavits charging illegal sale of liquor at the Orioles Nest, a private club located on Ohio 98 about five miles northeast of here in Claridon Township, which is dry.

State Liquor Director Donald D. Cook, who led a 20-man raiding party on the club Saturday, also charged that gambling operations were conducted on the premises.

gap between spending and revenue, Johnson was also setting his administration's tone in the matter of government regulation of business and industry.

The President called in the chairmen of the Federal Communications Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Power Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, and a dozen other regulatory agencies. He told them he will continue "the battle against substitution of government's interest for the public interest."

"We are challenged to elevate our sights, to measure our performance by quality rather than quantity, to concern ourselves with new areas of cooperation before we concern ourselves with new areas of control, to take pride in how much we do rather than how much there is to do," said Johnson.

been interrogated at the County Jail at Lisbon.

The investigation to date has not disclosed that the men were connected with any other burglaries in the immediate area, the officer said.

Chester Due Special Vote

last night that some homes do not have water service.

There are about 1,000 homes in the city. The charge would bring in an estimated $6,000 annually for the park maintenance and development.

The Central Committee indicated it would prefer to have the charge levied for five years. City Solicitor William Ingram will check state regulations to determine how long such a charge can be extended.

A simple majority would pass the proposed charge, it was reported.

Councilman Charles Kology asked why the service charge could not be placed on the city ballot in the May primary election. Members of the committee explained that if the charge is approved in February, collections could be made for the first quarter of 1964, providing earlier revenue for the park.

Mrs. Harold Ossman, one of the committee tri - chairmen, said pamphlets describing the work projects and financial need will be prepared and distributed to homes by youth groups about 10 days prior to the election.

The motion to hold the election was approved by the three councilmen present — Kology, Donald Hissam and Wayne Hutton. Councilmen Carl Graham and Donald Chaney were absent.

Kology complained of cars speeding on Indiana and Pennsylvania Aves., adding that drivers are "playing tag" and racing through intersections.

Mrs. Ossman of Indiana Ave. and William Allison, former Indiana Ave. resident, also reported speeders.

Mayor Harry Abrams said the motorists do not speed when the police cruiser is in sight. Kology said a center line should be painted at 1st St. and Pennsylvania Ave. to prevent drivers from turning too close to the curb when traveling east.

Mayor Abrams said the West Virginia Road Commission made a survey Monday at the school crossing at 6th St. and Carolina Ave. and another check was slated today.

Abrams said efforts are being made to have additional protection at the crossing for school children.

Kology reported the front office of the City Hall has been painted, thanking the young men who did the work under the direction of Patrolman Clifford Bebout.

Hutton reported on a special Council meeting Nov. 23 with Harry Gidley of Gidley, Kelly & Staub, consulting engineers of Charleston, concerning a proposed water improvement program.

Council will receive bids from engineering firms for linking two mains on Pan Ave. near the T. K. Roofing Co. to improve reservoir flow.

Kology reported a request has been received to move a street light on Luella Ave. to the opposite side of the street near steps leading to the City Park.

The Monongahela Power Co. will be consulted about the proposed change.

Men Charged In 2 Mishaps

A Lisbon area truck driver and an Ellwood City (Pa.) trucker were cited after two district traffic mishaps Tuesday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Alfred Andrulis, 35, of near Lisbon was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his farm truck hit the rear of an auto on Route 30 about a half mile west of Lisbon at 5 p.m.

His truck struck the rear of an auto operated by Patricia Ann Jarman, 19, of Lisbon R. D. 1, who slowed for a curve, officers said.

Warren King, 42, of Ellwood City suffered a laceration on the back of the head after his semi-trailer truck sideswiped another rig and an auto on Route 14, about a half mile west of Unity at 5:20 p.m.

The patrol said King was headed east when his rig sideswiped a westbound semi-trailer truck driven by Arthur Friley, 40, of New Philadelphia R. D. 1, then a westbound car driven by Ihla Vargo, 38, of Columbiana.

He was charged with driving left of center.

road. The man is interested in erecting a frozen meat locker plant, which would employ about nine persons, he said.

DeLonzo was authorized to check Solicitor William Bush as to whether the city would have to advertise the land for leasing purposes. If so, legislation may be presented at the next meeting.

Council again discussed the collection of delinquent water bills. Councilman Robert Taggart, water chairman, reported on a meeting held with Baldasare.

The director is responsible for the collection and has offered his fullest co-operation, Taggart said.

Councilman William Stroble suggested water rates be cut now that the final water bond has been paid. Taggart said this would amount to only $3,000 a year and would not mean much of a decrease for the some 2,600 customers.

Council members also agreed on the need for building up a water fund. DeLonzo commented the present Council has made a good start in getting delinquent bills cleared up and that the situation could be entirely corrected if the incoming Council continues the work.

Council went on record commending the Chamber of Commerce for the new Christmas decorations in the business district. They were purchased by donations from the merchants.

A letter was read from George Grafton, asking to be considered as a candidate for a Council post. He said Jerry Russell, an incoming councilman, is moving from town and his post will be vacant. Council members voted to present the letter to the incoming members, asserting they know nothing of any resignation.

Bernard Ference, 506 Aten Ave., again appeared before Council, claiming he is due $660 for storage of a city truck. Council at its last meeting voted to accept the recommendation of Bush, who said he can not find any liability on the part of the city.

Ference agreed to accept half the amount and later agreed to drop the bill to $220, or $10 per month for 22 months.

He said there is a moral obligation on the part of the city as well as a legal obligation. A lengthy discussion was held. At times it became heated.

No action was taken on the matter and Ference commented as he left that his bill is "back up to $660."

The Rev. William Harper of the Bethel Presbyterian Church gave the opening prayer.

Bank Duties Assumed

EAST PALESTINE — Lester E. Hart this week began his new duties as executive vice president of the First National Bank. John G. Davis, formerly of Butler, is the new cashier and secretary.

Pope

A council press office background paper estimated it would take 7-10 years to implement the liturgical reforms.

The 12,000-word decree represents the most far - reaching change in Roman rite liturgy since the 3rd Century when Latin replaced Greek in the Western church.

Among other things, the decree grants permission for the use of modern languages instead of Latin in the Mass and Sacraments.

American bishops announced they would make full use of the permission to substitute English for Latin. They said they plan to meet next spring to approve English translations.

Substitution of modern languages for Latin and other major points of the decree were made known in summary form during the past months of council debate.

With the distribution of the full text today, other details became known.

Its opening paragraph said the council "desires to impart an ever increasing vigor to the Christian life of the faithful; to adapt more suitably to the needs of our own times those institutions which are subject to change; to foster whatever can promote union among all who believe in Christ; to strengthen whatever can help to call the whole of mankind into the household of the Church."

"The council therefore sees particularly cogent reasons for undertaking the reform and promotion of the liturgy," the document said.

The decree deals only with Roman Catholic worship, but it emphasizes the importance of Scripture in liturgy and advocates more preaching.

Scripture and preaching are strongly emphasized by Protestants. Some non-Catholics feel Catholicism does not pay sufficient attention to them.

The decree sets general principles and guidelines. Special liturgical commissions, set up by national and regional bishops' conferencse, will work out the actual changes, including prayers and other texts in modern languagse. Commission proposals will go to the Vatican for final approval.

Edward Hayhurst of Brighton Ave., Dixonville, suffered first, second and third degree burns in the accident Tuesday night about 6.

The first attempt at tapping a furnace was unsuccessful. In the second attempt, the tap hole blew and Hayhurst was struck by molten metal, a company spokesman said.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruso —

DEAR FOLKS: We have received many inquiries on how to remove moisture from the inside of bud vases, etc.

Naturally the inside cannot be hand dried.

The best solution we have is to cut narrow strips of paper toweling or newspaper, and insert one end into the vase, leaving the top end of the paper sticking out of the neck.

The paper will absorb the moisture and prevent condensation. Be SURE to let the paper dry thoroughly before removing it. This prevents its tearing off inside of the bottle, bud vase, or decanter. By trial and error and 10 days of experimenting, this is the best answer we have come up with.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: If you feel like having potato salad some afternoon and don't have time to boil potatoes did you know that a can of those tiny cooked potatoes can be used? Drain the liquid from the can and proceed with your favorite recipe.

The salad does taste a bit better if you let it chill before serving.

Before scraping new potatoes I suggest that you soak them one hour in salted cold water. Not only does the skin peel off easily but the hands are not stained!

MRS. EDNA LEHMEN.

DEAR HELOISE: After having to call a repairman to remove a little baby sock from my washing machine, I hit on a fabulous idea to save more repair bills.

I take all of my baby's stockings and tuck them inside an old nylon stocking of my own and tie a knot in the end. (One could use a safety pin.)

I throw this "bundle" in with my white clothes each time I do a batch of laundry.

After the nylon stocking containing the baby socks has been spin dried (and wringer type won't make a bit of difference, go on and run it through the wringer) I remove it from the machine and, leaving the little stockings in it, shake it a few times and throw it across my clothesline or put it in my dryer until dry.

By drying these little socks in a dryer, or on the clothesline, while they are in the nylon stocking, they refuse to become lost, do not get tangled with other items of clothing or get separated.

MOTHER.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to add my thanks to the woman who suggested cleaning ovens with ammonia, but I have found a way to hurry up the process if you don't want to leave it over night.

Bring a pan of water to a full rolling boil, place it in your oven and then add the ammonia. Wait only a few hours. Then wipe it out.

MRS. GEORGE HANNER.

DEAR HELOISE: My six-month-old daughter spits up excessively and for this reason I have had to think up some time-savers which I thought I might pass on to other mothers.

Instead of staining my clothes and other peoples, I always carry around what I call "burp" towels to catch those spit-ups. These can be made, or one can use fingertip towels in pastel colors. These fingertip towels make excellent shower gifts for expectant mothers when you embroider "BURP-ME" on each one.

To get those milk stains out of baby clothes I always run my baby's clothes through a cold rinse before washing them.

Hancock GOP Plans Dinner

WEIRTON — Plans were launched for a Lincoln Day dinner when the Hancock County Republican Executive Committee met Tuesday night with James Ravoira, chairman.

A committee was named to plan the dinner sometime in February at the Weirton Community Center.

Named were Mrs. R. S. Meighen, Mrs. Stanley Kramer, Mrs. E. J. Presley, Art Sosenko and James Wares.

Another committee will be named later. Republican women will have charge of the decorations.

Howard Corcoran, state chairman, advised the committee that it is to delay the Lincoln Day dinner until after Jan. 31.

Final selection of registrars was made by each committeeman and committeewoman.

Turncoat Bound Over On Assault Charge

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Korean War turncoat Lowell D. Skinner has been bound to the Summit County grand jury on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Skinner waived a preliminary hearing Tuesday on the Nov. 18 shooting.

Free on bonds totaling $2,600, Skinner, 32, also faces a hearing in Barberton Municipal Court Dec. 18 on an assault charge filed by a Copley man.

Jury Rules Hancock Death Self-Inflicted

WEIRTON — A coroner's jury conducting an inquest into the death of George Paul, 49, ruled Tuesday night that the ex-Weirton policeman died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

His body was discovered Saturday in a phone booth near a store. Hancock County Coroner John D. Herron said the weapon used was a .38-caliber pistol. Paul had been employed as a security guard at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas.

TB Test Clinic Slated For Palestine Schools

EAST PALESTINE — Plans are being made for a mass tuberculosis clinic for public and parochial students sometime early next year, James Vocature, health commissioner, said today.

Funds for the clinic would come from the county TB levy approved by voters in November. Vocature said the city was the first to request a clinic from funds from the renewed levy. The request was filed by Supt. H. S. Laber.

Students would be given the Heaf test, and those with positive reactions will get the Mantoux test, he added.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average two to five degrees below normal. Normal high 37-40, normal low 22-27. A little warmer daytime daytime temperatures by weekend, but continued cool at night. Precipitation will average about one-fourth inch melted as almost daily periods of light snow or snow flurries until around weekend.

Doctors' Words About Same

Lincoln, Kennedy Deaths Seen Medically Paralleled

WASHINGTON (AP) — "His wound is mortal; it is impossible for him to recover."

These were the words of the first doctor to reach Abraham Lincoln's side after an assassin's bullet crashed into the back of his head almost a century ago.

Ironically, they were almost echoed by Dr. Malcolm Perry of Parkland Hospital in Dallas where President Kennedy was rushed after he was shot by an assassin Nov. 22.

"We never had any hope of saving his life," Dr. Perry told newsmen within a few hours after Kennedy's death was announced.

Another medical parallel between the two tragedies is to be found in a report written in 1954 by Col. Hugh R. Gilmore Jr., a former curator of the medical museum of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology.

Summarizing various records of Lincoln's case, Col. Gilmore had this to say about the medical care given Lincoln immediately after the shooting, while the mortally wounded President still was in the box at Ford Theater:

"Three Army doctors in the audience rushed to the box...the wound was located and artificial respiration applied, for the patient was pulseless and his breathing was hardly evident."

Dr. Perry, who attended President Kennedy, said that shortly after he reached the president's side in the emergency room, the chief executive's heart action failed and "there was no palpable pulse beat."

"Nevertheless, he and a team of other doctors administered all the various emergency procedures in the futile attempt to save the President's life.

President Lincoln, according to Gilmore's account, "responded somewhat" to the first aid given him in the theater box, "and about fifteen minutes after the shooting he was carried to a house across the street...he was given a little brandy which he swallowed, but later attempts to give brandy were unsuccessful..."

Could the best modern brain surgery have saved Lincoln's life?

A couple of years ago, Col. George J. Hayes, chief neurosurgeon of Walter Reed Army Hospital, and a close student of the Lincoln medical history, said in a lecture that even with such surgery, Lincoln would have had no better than a 50-50 chance of surviving.

"With the type of injuries he had...I don't think we (modern brain surgeons) really would have done much better..." he added.

There was another sad parallel between the lives and deaths of the two Presidents.

The chair Lincoln was sitting in when he was shot was one which had been especially placed in the theater box for him.

It was a rocking chair.

Sometimes a yeast bread recipe will call for heated buttermilk. Don't worry if the buttermilk separates during the heating process; the separation should not affect the bread that finally results.

Wittenberg Revises Budget For 1963-64

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The Board of Directors at Wittenberg University have adopted a revised budget of $4,940,261 for 1963-64.

Agreement on the new budget, $54,318 larger than the tentative budget adopted in June, was reached Tuesday.

Add a well beaten egg, a couple of tablespoons of melted butter and a little light cream to two cups of seasoned mashed swcet potatoes; bake in a moderate oven until puffed and browned.

Rotary Hears Tree Farmer

Posterity's Role Cited In Beaver Creek Park

Failure to perpetuate for future generations the unique Beaver Creek area would be a great tragedy, Dwight V. Beede told the Rotary Club Tuesday.

The Elkton tree farmer and football coach at Youngstown University described the Beaver Creek area as one of the prettiest, most unique forest belts anywhere and said it is the center of the greatest variety of hardwood trees in the world.

A proposal for enlarging the present Beaver Creek State Park to take in nearby areas to preserve the abundant natural resources is under study, and Beede said failure to capitalize on the opportunity would be a tragedy.

He reviewed the exploitation of America's once - great stand of forests and explained the valuable role forests play in soil and water conservation in addressing the club at its noon luncheon meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

"The history of forestry is a history of exploitation," Beede asserted, explaining that the first export product of the early settlers was pine and oak for ships of the British Navy.

The early pioneers found dense forests a "nuisance" to their farming endeavors, Beede said. "No one thought the supply inexhaustible, and the man who could cut and burn the most trees was a hero then," he added.

As the settlers moved westward, the practice of cutting trees went along, and soon such varieties of trees as the white pine were exhausted, he continued.

He described the value of a forest cover.

"Forest cover means much to an area from the standpoint of soil and water conservation, recreation, esthetic value, and shelter and food for wildlife," Beede said.

It acts as a "great sponge" to hold rainfall and allow it to flow gradually to springs and rivers. Without the cover of decaying leaves and branches, the forest cover acts as a "tin roof" and the water runoff is rapid, causing erosion and floods, he pointed out.

The cover in forests can hold 14½ inches of water. But much is being or has been destroyed, and each year 500,000 tons of top soil is washed into our rivers, he said. He described forest cover as a "vast chemical laboratory" where one-celled organisms thrive on vegetation.

How can the forests be preserved "Perpetuation of a continous supply of wood would meet all other considerations of recreation and water conservation," Beede declared. "This won't happen tomorrow, but we have an obligation to those who come after us," he said.

He mentioned that only 5 per cent of the timber used in Ohio actually is produced in Ohio to indicate how the state's forests have been dissipated.

The speaker also brought along for display samples of various wood grown in the area of his farm in Elkton.

Beede, who was named "Ohio's tree farmer of the year" in 1961, was introduced by Frank C. Dawson, program chairman. Ralph A. Finley, president, introduced Elmer F. (Stump) Eiferd as a new member. Edwin L. Bayley, who had been a patient in a hospital in New York for six weeks, rejoined the group.

Post Offices Set For Yule

Area Post Offices have announced new hours for the Yule mailing season.

Starting Monday, service windows at the East Liverpool Post Office will be open from 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily until Christmas with the exception of Saturday, Dec. 14, when the windows will observe the customary noon closing, Postmaster Samuel W. Brown said.

The Newell Post Office will follow an extended schedule similar to the one in effect last year.

It calls for the facility to be open the afternoons of Dec. 11 and Dec. 18 (Wednesdays) and Dec. 14 and Dec. 21 (Saturdays). It is normally closed on those afternoons.

Postmaster Arnie Durham requested Newell residents to mail early for Christmas to insure delivery before the holiday.

Cellini said persons have been co-operating very well the last few years about mailing early and said he expects the Christmas rush to begin about Dec. 19.

Industrial Group Studies Data To Promote District

The Community Improvement Corp., meeting Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce office, authorized on investigation of the feasibility of publishing a new brochure outlining the district's advantages to industry.

At the same time, the group agreed to bring up to date the data on so-called community facilities — facts on utilities, railroads, river and rail transportation, labor supply, tax structures and other details. The data would be incorporated in the new brochure.

Reviewing recent activities, the CIC also received a report that only a "fair" response was received to a request for listings of available district industrial buildings and sites. The CIC said there still is time to file the data, which will be passed on to the State Development Department.

The group received a letter from the Junior Chamber of Commerce expressing interest in the organization. The CIC extended an invitation to the Junior Chamber or any other interested oranization to become part of the membership. Alvin Babb, president, presided.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian government banned the American news magazines Time and Newsweek today, charging they had committed "critical acts of injury against the Cambodian government."

Theft

ery Ward & Co., all of E. 5th St.

Capt. Pyle said the loot included two transistor radios, penknives, cuff links, tie clasps, hunting knives and an assortment of other small items.

One boy is a student at Westgate School and the other attends East Junior High School.

The two admitted the series of thefts began Nov. 25, when schools were dismissed for the funeral of President John F. Kennedy. There were additional thefts on Friday and Saturday, they admitted. Capt. Pyle said the total value of the loot has not been determined.

The investigation began on the theory one of the boys had been involved in another case, a house-entering. Questioning led to admissions of the shoplifting, but apparently cleared the boy of the burglary. Some of the penknives had been sold to fellow students.

One of the boys was turned over to Juvenile Officer James Miller and placed in detention at the County Jail in Lisbon. The other was released to custody of his parents.

The loot was found buried under a trailer and in a one-gallon tin can, also buried in the same vicinity. The boys first dug up the shovel they used to bury the loot, then unearthed it for authorities.

Wellsville Cub Dens Stage Skit

Lunch was served by mothers of Den 4. The planning committee will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the church. A Christmas program will be presented Dec. 17.

Chop half of a small onion and add it to a one - pound can of baked beans along with one tablespoon each cider vinegar and dark brown sugar and a half teaspoon of prepared mustard. Turn into a couple of individual baking dishes and bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes or so.

Judge Installs Device

Red Light Blinks In Court To Remind Of Auto Toll

Every 12 minutes while Municipal Court is in session, a bright red light blinks on the desk of Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The unique signal is the judge's way of reminding persons in his court — particularly those cited for violation of auto laws — that there is a traffic accident somewhere in the United States every 12 minutes that leads to the death of a driver, passenger or pedestrian.

The judge placed the signal in use for the first time in the criminal court session this morning. Ironically, no traffifc offenders were before him.

Electrician Fred Kane installed the signal yesterday afternoon. The 100-watt bulb is enclosed in a glass case that is supported by a short metal standard bolted to the top of the desk.

Wiring leads to an electrical connection underneath the desk. It is connected with a button that allows the judge to flash the signal.

He said he expects to install an automatic timer to flash the light as soon as he can find one at an economical price.

Judge Chertoff said similar traffic reminders are used by Cleveland Municipal Court and other municipal courts in the far west.

When taking the bench this morning, the judge explained the purpose of the new signal.

Rapping his knuckles against the top off the desk, he said: "I'm knocking on wood — we have had no fatalities in East Liverpool this year. I am praying that the record will continue."

The judge's service has been marked by a crusade against traffic violators, particularly drunken drivers.

"When I went on the bench four years ago I said if I could save one life I would feel I had done a good job," he said. "That policy is continuing."

Murchisons Nowhere In Sight

Kirby Ready To Retake Reins Of Giant Concern

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The stage was set today for Allan P. Kirby, 71-year-old Eastern financier, to grasp once more the reins of giant Alleghany Corp., wrested from him more than 30 months ago.

Nowhere in sight for the Alleghany stockholders' meeting, convened to restore Kirby to power, were the oil-rich Murchison brothers of Texas who toppled him from command of the vast railroad and investment company empire in May 1961.

John D. Murchison, 41, captain of the successful dissident forces of 2½ years ago, was reported inspecting his investment in a Colorado ski resort. Clint W. Murchison Jr., 39, was said to be in Dallas looking after other Murchison interests.

A $16.8-million stock-purchase transaction arranged early last July and executed Oct. 31 sealed the victory for Kirby and his allies.

The intervening time was required to tie together loose ends and for procedural steps, climaxed today with election of a new slate of Alleghany directors, headed by Kirby and including his sons, Fred M. and Allan Jr.

Kirby was expected to resume direction as board chairman.

As a New York holding company, Alleghany oversees assets of about $7 billion.

Its prime holdings are effective control of Investors Diversified Services, a $4-billion Minneapolis-based investment company complex, and the $2.5-billion New York Central Railroad, the nation's third largest.

Wellsville Post Office Staff Plans Shift To New Quarters

The Christmas mail rush is only providing additional worries for Wellsville postal employes, who are also involved in planning for the move into the newly-constructed Post Office at 11th and Main Sts.

The holiday hours were announced today by Postmaster E. J. Evans, who said the move is being delayed because of a bad thermostat on the heating system in the new building.

The contractor said the new thermostat has been mailed, but it has not yet arrived, Evans said.

If it does arrive and operates properly when installed, the move might be made this Saturday.

The new location is going to provide problems for patrons also, Evans commented. He pointed out that the patrons will have all new box numbers.

They also will have new combinations on the boxes. The new boxes operate from a combination of letters instead of numbers and there are three dials instead of two.

Clerks not only will have to learn all the new numbers of the patrons but will have to learn new systems of handling the mail in the new building.

The situation is "awfully confusing," Evans said.

The holiday hours will be from 7:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, including Wednesday and Saturday, from Monday through Dec. 14. The windows will be open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 15.

Hours will be from 7:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. Dec. 16 through Dec. 20, inclusive, and from 7:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Dec. 21.

They then will be open again Sunday, Dec. 22, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The hours will be from 7:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Monday and Tuesday before Christmas.

These hours will be in effect in either the present or new location.

No Injuries In 2 Crashes

No one was injured in two traffifc collisions on the icy 1st St. overhead bridge in Chester Tuesday night, police reported.

At 10:25, a 1963 station wagon driven by Richard J. Conkle, 17, of 2109 Michigan Ave., East Liverpool, skidded into a 1953 sedan operated by Miss Sharon Brookes, 20, of 300 Louisiana Ave., Chester, Patrolman Clifford Bebout said.

There was about $50 damage to the Brookes car and $250 to the Conkle auto, he said.

At 11 p. m., a 1954 sedan operated by James W. Woods, 26, of 1128 Ceramic St., East Liverpool, skidded into a 1962 sedan driven by Kenneth Brooks, 32, of Beverly, Ohio, knocking it into a 1963 sedan operated by Miss Mary L. Switzer, 51, of 451 Florida Ave., Chester.

Both Brooks and Miss Switzer were halted for the traffifc signal, Patrolman Bebout said. Damage totaled about $800.

Lisbon Santa Parade To Be Held Saturday

LISBON — Santa Claus is coming to town Saturday.

A parade at 2 p.m. with four bands and various floats will accompany him to the music court on the Public Square, where he will distribute treats to area children.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is decorating the town with a different lighting arrangement than used before. Jaycee wives packed 200 treats Sunday at St. George's Parish Hall.

Glen Adams and Keith Cox are co-chairmen of the parade and Jerry Rose and Walter Thomas for decorations. Harold Adams is Jaycee president.

CROP Drive Collects $110 In Early Report

LISBON — A total of $110.50 has been collected for the Christian Rural Overseas Program in Columbiana County, according to Miss Diane Armstrong, secretary-treasurer.

The Rev. Frank Hare, pastor of the Beaver Valley United Presbyterian Larger Parish and county chairman, said he hopes contributions will be sent early. Last year's total was $1,015 for the county, he said.

Every dollar secured will furnish over 300 pounds of surplus food for the needy throughout the world, he added.

May Not Finish Work In Week

Road Bond Issue Throws Snag In Assembly Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A legislative snag, involving the proposal to put a $500 million highway bond issue on next May's ballot, has dimmed hopes that the General Assembly can wind up its work in a week.

There appeared to be no question that the proposal has enough support for adoption by the Ohio Senate today.

But it didn't have enough support Tuesday night to suspend the rules so the matter could be taken up for immediate consideration.

It will take 20 votes for Senate adoption of the bond issue resolution. It would have taken 22 Tuesday night to suspend the rules requiring such matters to "lie over" on legislative day after committee approval. So lawmakers are getting slightly behind schedule.

The House voted 117-11 Tuesday to allow construction of "Golden Age Villages" in cooperation with metropolitan housing authorities.

If the House goes along on the $500 million highway bond issue proposal and indications are that it will, the final decision will be up to Ohio's voters in the primary next May 5.

Gov. James A. Rhodes' administration says some major highway projects now being considered for 1969-1972 could be put under contract between next year and 1968 if the bond issue is approved.

To meet the state's resulting obligations, penny - a - gallon gasoline tax imposed to pay for a $500 million highway bond issue 10 years ago would be continued. This yields about $33 million a year. It is due to be retired in 1972.

And the controversial, decade-old axle-mile tax, based on miles traveled in Ohio by trucks with three or more axles and producing about $18 million annually, also would be tapped.

Backers of the proposal figure the new obligations could be retired by the end of 1976.

Before the Senate Highway Committee recommended approval of the bond proposal Tuesday, all senators—Republicans and Democrats—were called into an unusual single "caucus" to hear State Highway Director P. E. Masheter explain it. Public and press were excluded.

The Senate seems to look favorably on the House-passed bill dealing with "Golden Age Villages," also an administration measure.

Time ran out on essentially the same bill five months ago, when state lawmakers went home before the Senate could consider it.

It would permit sale of state land—especially on or close to the grounds of mental hospitals—to metropolitan housing authorities to erect living units for perhaps as many as 3,000 non-psychotic patients.

Supporters say it would permit these persons to live in a normal community atmosphere, yet close to regular professional care. The present $3,000 yearly income ceiling would be removed, and authorities would be given permission to determine the maximum allowable income.

A law setting up a three-member board for the program went into effect nearly 2½ months ago. But the State Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction while discussing the possibility of letting various housing authorities build the units and lease them to the state, has been waiting to see what the legislature would do.

Columbus, Toledo, Massillon and Dayton-Cincinnati are considered likely initial sites if the bill is approved.

Without opposition, the House passed a bill to let Morgan County commissioners convey 65 acres around the County Home to the local Board of Education for a high school site. It goes to the Senate.

Representatives also approved, 93-35, and sent to the Senate, a bill which would prevent public disclosure of financial information submitted to Ohio's Development Financing Commission by companies seeking loans to locate or expand facilities in Ohio.

Commission members had a discussion with the press at one of their first meetings Sept. 27 when reporters were asked to leave while such data were being reviewed. The contention was that some firms might be reluctant to submit data if persons other than the commission have access.

A bill introduced in the House Tuesday calls for full payment of a public utility's property taxes (with possible rebate), even if it is seeking redetermination of its property valuation, so that the school districts which benefit will not be deprived of operating money.

Rep. F. K. Cassel, R-Wyandot, the sponsor, says the measure stems from token payments — which are perfectly legal presently — by the Pennsylvania Railroad, which hopes to have its property valuation lowered.

The only action senators took in their after-supper session was to authorize, 27-0, transfer of property in Piqua for highway purposes. The bill now goes to the House.

Ohio Woman Seeking Support In Primary

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — An Ohio woman began rounding up support Tuesday for her candidacy in the New Hampshire primary next March.

Mrs. Fay T. Carpenter-Swain of Cincinnati, the nation's first announced Democratic candidate for vice president, said she had no trouble getting 50 signatures on a nominating petition.

Mrs. Carpenter-Swain, a hefty blonde, says she is for or against just about anything you can name.

"I'm against capital punishment, against blue laws and against the civil rights bill, which is a killer law," she said. "I'm for equal rights for women, a single term for presidents, popular election of vice presidents and a peace corps for teen-agers and old folks in this country."

Sale Plan Announced Of Old Ohio Concern

CINCINNATI (AP)—The proposed sale for several million dollars of the 101-year-old Lunkenheimer Co., valve makers, to two out-of-state firms has been announced by the Board of Directors.

The directors said Tuesday that the sale, subject to approval by shareholders at a meeting next month would be to Valvco Corp., a Delaware corporation owned by White, Weld & Co. of New York, and Schneider, Bernett & Hickman, Inc., of Dallas.

The proposed sale price was not disclosed, but is believed to be around $20 million, based upon authorized shares of stock at $35 a share.

To Stage Re-Match

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D - Sagamore Hills, plans to stage a rematch with Republican William H. Ayres of Akron for the 14th U. S. District congressional seat Ayres holds. Ocasek, who lost to Ayres by 14,000 votes in the 1962 election, has taken out nominating petitions for the office.

Ashtabula Seeks Port Authority

ASHTABULA Ohio (AP)—Formation of a port authority to oversee Ashtabula's Lake Erie harbor will be sought by City Manager David P. Deluca when City Council is reoganized next month.

He said Tuesday that a port authority would have autonomous power and could better promote the harbor than the present seven - member Port Commission.

His suggestion follows a move to expand the Port Commission to 10 members and give it the authority, now held by the city manager, to appoint the port director and harbor master.

Anthony Zalimeni, present port director, was elected to City Council Nov. 5 and will resign the port post when he takes office next month.

Hall To Pick Successors

Terms Will Close Dec. 31 For 3 In City Board Posts

The terms of three members of five unsalaried municipal boards and commissions are scheduled to expire at midnight Dec. 31. The posts will be subject to appointment by Mayor-elect Merrill D. Hall when he assumes office Jan. 1.

The expiring terms are held by:

James H. Grafton, on the Board of Health.

Louis Yanni, on the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners.

Atty. Ben H. Berman, on the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

No tenures will run out at the end of the year on the two other boards — the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water and sewage departments, and the Board of Trustees of fthe Carnegie Public Library.

Expiration dates of terms on the city boards are staggered so that a few run out at the end of each year. For instance, five ran out at the end of 1960, six expired as 1961 closed and two ended Dec. 31, 1962.

Hold-over members of the Health Board are C. Frank Dales, whose term runs through 1964; Dr. J. Keith Rugh, chairman, 1965; Mrs. Ila Finney Johnston, 1966, and Dr. C. M. Mayberry, 1967. Terms are for five years.

Grafton was named in April to fill the unexpired term of E. R. Liebschner, who resigned. Howard Claypool is clerk, elected by the board.

Continuing as members of the Park Board are: W. Leland Thompson, secretary, 1964; Probate Judge Louis Tobin, president, 1965, and Atty. William H. Vodrey Jr., 1966. Terms are for four years.

Continuing as members of the Civil Service Commission are: Donal I. Burcham, chairman, 1967, and Angelo Fiorello, 1965. P. K. Calhoon is clerk, elected by the commission. Terms are for six years.

On the Library Board, the terms of three members continue through 1964 and the other three will serve through 1965.

Serving through 1964 will be Miss Sara Heddleston, Arthur T. Thomas and Chleo Deshler Goodman. Thomas was named a few months ago to succeed John N. Mostoller, former minister of the First Church of Christ.

In terms that continue through 1965 are Atty. Robert A. Kapp, James J. McGowan and Mrs. Joyce Seevers. Terms are for four years.

Members of the Board of Public Utilities are W. O. Schneider, whose term runs to next July 1. Edward Moore will serve until July 1, 1966, and A. J. Cloran's term runs to July 1, 1968. Terms are for six years.

$8,000, Coins Given To U. Of Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—A donor who wishes to remain anonymous has given the University of Cincinnati $8,000 in cash and a Greek coin collection.

UC President Walter C. Langsam said the coins were sold for $35,100 with the money to be used for surgery research in the College of Medicine as requested by the donor. The $8,000 is for a College of Business Administration fellowship fund.

The UC Board of Directors also reported Tuesday a gift of $100,000 from the Crosley Foundation for a newborn intensive care center to be set up in Cincinnati General Hospital. It will be known as Crosley Memorial Nursery and will enable the university to acquire special equipment for treatment of premature and newborn infants.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Ten years ago our son married a girl who teaches psychology. Since we live in a distant city, we don't see them very often. Judging by our last visit, perhaps it's just as well.

Their 8-year-old son says and does whatever comes to his mind. He is rude and disrespectful, interrupts adults when they are speaking and behaves as if the whole world revolves around him.

One evening when the boy was watching TV his mother asked him to put his bicycle in the garage. He replied, "Drop dead!"

She ignored his remark and put the bicycle away herself. Later that evening I told her I thought the boy should not be allowed to speak to her that way. She answered, "All children sometimes wish their parents were dead. I believe in allowing our son the freedom to express himself instead of burying his hostility."

I was so stunned I could not reply. I'm still unable to get over it. Is she crazy or am I? —SPEECHLESS.

Dear Speechless: I doubt that she's crazy but I certainly can't say much for her approach to child rearing. A child's hostilities SHOULD be worked off but there are better ways than getting lippy with parents.

Children who are permitted to say and do anything they please, grow up to be obnoxious. And they often have a tough time adjusting to a world which will not tolerate such guff.

In Nature's Defense

Dear Ann: I feel compelled to defend a great lady who is unable to defend herself — Mother Nature. You were comforting the flat-chested girl and encouraging her to fill with cotton what God had forgotten.

Every human being is made with the genes supplied by the parents. Why, then, blame Mother Nature? It's just as though someone gave you all the materials with which to build a house—and didn't include anything for a porch.

You gave the girl good advice but you didn't go far enough. You should have told her that when she selects a mate she should take a good look at his mother, his sisters and his aunts. If a flat-chested woman chooses a husband from a flat-chested family the chance are good that her daughters will be in no better shape than she is.—OL' COTTON PICKER.

Dear Ol' Cotton Picker: Heaven help us when THIS becomes a consideration in selecting a husband. People already are getting married for wacky enough reasons without adding THIS to the list.

Condolences

Dear Ann: Can you help me? I always feel so stupid when I must make a condolence call because I never know how to express my sympathy to someone who has lost someone close. It's not too difficult if the person is a casual acquaintance. I simply say, "You have my sympathy." But when a dear friend or a close relative has died that phrase seems empty and inadequate.

Are there any special rules of conduct when calling on the bereaved? Recently we made such a call at a neighbor's home and it looked as if a party was in progress. I mentioned to my husband that I thought this was disrespectful. He said it was good for the bereaved to have a little laughter and levity in the house.

Thank you for any information you can give me.—EDNA.

-:-

Dear Edna: It's your presence rather than your words that count. A warm handshake or a caress is far more meaningful than anything you could say.

Light conversation is not out of place in a home of mourning. Music, joke telling or dancing obviously is not in good taste.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Also appearing on the program will be John Gill, manager of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., and Beaver County Commissioner James Ross.

The broadcast is open to the public and a special phone number will be announced during the program and operators will be on duty to receive questions to be presented to the panel.

Reds Release 2 Dutch Sailors From Prison

MOSCOW (AP) —The Soviet Union today released two Dutch sailors imprisoned 2½ years on charges of spying for NATO. They were put aboard a Dutch airliner for the trip home.

The sailors, Lou de Jager, 27, and Evert Reydon, 31, had been serving 13-year terms. They appeared in good health and said they were well treated during confinement in the same cell at a prison in Vladimir.

The two were arrested Aug. 20, 1961, while traveling by car near the Polish frontier. Soviet authorities said. They were convicted of collecting espionage information for NATO on the orders of the Dutch intelligence service.

Hearing Planned Dec. 17 For Man In Fraud Charge

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today scheduled a hearing Dec. 17 at 9 a. m. for Winnie E. Sanderson Jr., 611 Sugar St., accused of fraudulently claiming benefits from the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

Sanderson was taken before Judge Chertoff this morning on the charge filed by George N. Blair of Canton, an investigator for the BUC. The continuance was granted when the defendant requested time to obtain counsel. No plea was entered.

Questioned by the court before bond was fixed, Blair told Judge Chertoff the alleged fraud involved a total of $161. The court then set bond at $100.

The affidavit alleges specifically that Sanderson collected benefits for the week ending July 27. It says he "unlawfully and fraudulently claimed" the benefits "by means of a false certification and misrepresentation."

It alleges that Sanderson claimed he was unemployed in the week ending July 27 "whereas in truth and in fact he was employed and did have earnings."

Broadest Study Of Subject

Figures Link Smoking To Disease And Death

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
Associated Press Science Writer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—You are past 40: Been smoking since age 15 or before? Inhale? A new barrage of figures linking smoking to disease and death may seem centered on you.

The broadest study of the subject yet made shows death rates increase with extent of exposure to cigarette smoke, says the American Cancer Society.

Its report today came on the heels of a proposal by the American Medical Association's Board of Trustees for a research program on tobcaco and health "beyond statistical evidence."

The American Cancer Society's report was based on 422,094 men who filled out detailed questionnaires and then were traced for an average of 34.3 months.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, the society's director of statistical research, outlined the new findings at the 17th annual clinical meeting of the American Medical Association. The figures confirm previous findings and go further, he said.

Pipe-smoking Dr. Hammond reported death rates were far higher among cigarette smokers than non - smokers, they increased with amount of smoking, and they were lower among ex-smokers of a year or longer than among current smokers.

The latest study, aimed at refuting challenges to six earlier ones, includes many new factors. One part of it compares death rates of 36,975 matched pairs (one smoker and one non-smoker).

The "twins" were matched for age, race, height, urban or rural residence, and numerous other characteristics—even degree of baldness and frequency of eating fried foods. The smoker in each pair used a pack of cigarettes a day or more.

Of the 36,975 matched pairs, 1,385 of the smokers died during the study compared with 662 of the non-smokers.

Lung cancer killed 110 of the smokers, 12 of the non-smokers. Fifteen smokers died of emphysema, another lung disease, compared with 1 non-smoker. More than twice as many smokers as non-smokers (684 and 312; died of two arterial diseases. Other causes felled 576 smokers compared with 329 of the non-smoking "twins."

Among smokers age 40 to 69 who started before age 15 the death rate was 2.9 as high as among those who never smoked regularly.

Lung cancer death rates of current cigarette smokers were 11 times as high as non-smokers —18 times as high among very heavy smokers.

The American Tobacco Institute has said conclusive scientific evidence is lacking to show connection between cancer and smoking.

Dr. Hammond said other diseases found related to cigarette smoking included cancer of the mouth, throat and bladder, and gastric ulcers.

3 Youths Sentenced For Attack, Robbery

CINCINNATI (AP)—Common Pleas Court Judge Simon L. Leis Tuesday sentenced three Cincinnati youths to indeterminate prison terms for raping and robbing a 40-year-old woman Aug. 18, 1962.

The three are Larry Johnson, 18; James Dowell Jr., 19, and Calvin H. Hall, 20. Police said they were a gang of youths who attacked the woman in Filson Park.

Mansfield Firm Names Former City Man In Post

Robert B. Davis, a native of East Liverpool, has been appointed vice president in charge of merchandising of the Tappan Co. of Mansfield.

Richard Tappan, president, said Davis will supervise merchandising activities for the company, including advertising, sales promotion and public relations.

The appointment is in addition to his present responsibilities in assisting with supervision of Tappan's 125-man field sales force.

Davis was manager of the Smith & Phillips Co. store in Canton from 1945 until 1950, when he was named territory manager of New York City for Tappan.

He became manager of special products in 1954 and became sales manager of built-in equipment in 1955. He was appointed assistant general sales manager in 1960.

The son of Edward Davis, formerly of East Liverpool, and the late Mrs. Davis, he was graduated from East Liverpool High School in 1936.

Merchants Group To Issue Brochure On Achievements

The East Liverpool Merchants Association gave approval Tuesday to printers' proofs of a new brochure that will be issued soon to all members and prospective members, explaining some of the recent accomplishments of the retailers' group.

Meeting at the Chamber of Commerce office, the ELMA members were given a "preview" of the publication by George A. Shaw, chairman of the committee in charge of its preparation.

Some of the factors cited in the brochure are:

A campaign that led to installation of new street lights in the business district.

Recent erection of big signs on 3rd St. at Broadway and Market St., showing travelers the way to the business district.

The annual community Christmas program.

"Green Tag Days," a new retail promotion launched in late November.

The semi-annual Dollar Days, which have been held for more than 40 years.

ELMA said it expects to step up its activities in 1964, with more emphasis on retail promotions and new proposals for improvement of the downtown area.

The organization will go onto a "total budget system," under which the cost of Christmas activities and other promotions will be lumped together and pro rated throughout the year in monthly billings to the membership.

The businessmen approved a resolution of respect to the memory of the late President John F. Kennedy and ordered a copy spread on its minutes.

Harold Allison, chairman, reported for the Christmas activities committee.

He reviewed the annual program, including erection of a community Yule tree on the Diamond; placing of lights across business district streets and the Santa Claus parade presented last Friday night with the co-operation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Allison also pointed out a contractor has started erecting 48 lighted Christmas tree replicas on downtown utility poles.

Erection of the decorations was delayed a few days to await installation of new street light standards by the Ohio Power Co.

Allison expressed the association's thanks to individuals and organizations that have aided in the Yule program. Included were the police, fire and street departments, the city electrical department and Safety-Service Director Robert Owen for aid in moving the tree to the Diamond, erecting it and stringing the lights, and for assistance during the parade Friday night.

Next meeting will be Jan. 7.

Reminders Issued On Annual Licenses

The Board of Health has started mailing notices to operators of restaurants, taverns and nursing homes in East Liverpool reminding them to renew their state licenses by Dec. 31.

The permits are required by state law but the applications may be made to the health board's office in the City Hall, Health Commissioner Septimus Cook said.

He warned the law provides the establishments cannot operate without a state license.

The fees vary with nursing home permits issued on the basis of capacity and fees for restaurants and taverns based on seating capacity.

Area Ceramists To Name Winner Of Annual Award

The 1964 recipient of the annual Albert Victor Bleininger Memorial Award for "distinguished achievement in the field of ceramics" will be named Tuesday night at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Section of the American Ceramic Society.

The society's meeting will begin at 7 with dinner at Stouffer's Restaurant in the Oakland Section of Pittsburgh. The business meeting will be at 8, also at the restaurant.

The Bleininger Award committee is headed by R. A. Witschey of the A. P. Green Fire Brick Co. in Tarentum.

The award was established in 1948 as a memorial to the late Dr. A. V. Bleininger, who was director of research for the Homer Laughlin China Co.

By tradition, the recipient's name is announced each year at the December meeting. The gold medal and scroll symbolizing the award will be presented at a dinner meeting of the association in March.

Past recipients of the award represent all phases of the ceramic industry. Nominations are not limited to residents of the Pittsburgh area. There are no stipulations on age, residence or the duration or type of work. Once a nomination is filed, it remains active for three years.

Winner of the 1963 award was Dr. Herbert Insley of Washington, a retired employe of the National Bureau of Standards.

Paul V. Johnson of Geneva, Ill., president of the American Ceramic Society, will be the principal speaker at the meeting.

He is associated with the Structural Clay Products Research Foundation at Geneva. Johnson became president of the ACS a few months ago at the annual meeting in Pittsburgh, succeeding John H. Koenig of the School of Ceramics at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, N. J.

J. Thomas Markham is section chairman and George A. Wieand is secretary. Both are of Pittsburgh.

For Cambodia, South Viet Nam

U.S. Opposes Cambodian Prince's Neutrality Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

-:-

CAMBODIA: The United States is opposed to a proposal by Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk to neutralize both Cambodia and South Viet Nam but leave North Viet Nam under Communist rule.

State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips expressed the U.S. attitude Tuesday in reaffirming support for South Viet Nam's long struggle to overcome Communist - led subversion.

U.S. officials said the 1954 Geneva agreement already guarantees the sovereignty and independence of Cambodia, as well as Laos and Viet Nam.

-:-

MRS. KENNEDY: The Senate passed Tuesday and sent back to the House a bill that grants Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and her two children the protection of at least two Secret Service agents for one year.

The measure also provides temporary secretarial help and office space for one year and up to $5,000 to cover death and burial expenses of the late President Kennedy.

The version of the bill passed by the House Monday authorized secretarial help and office space for six months and set no limit on the death and burial costs.

-:-

JOHNSON - MCCORMACK: President Johnson has ordered House Speaker John W. McCormack to be kept informed of national security matters and to attend meetings of the National Security Council.

The President took the step, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Tuesday, "to assure the continuity of government in the event of any contingency."

McCormack, a 71 - year - old Massachusetts Democrat, is next in line to the presidency should anything happen to Johnson before his term runs out on Jan. 20, 1965.

Life Memberships Given 5 In Midland American Legion

Midland American Legion Post 481 decided to honor its World War I past commanders by giving them life memberships when it met Monday night in the post home. John Waddingham, commander, presided.

Recipients are Lawrence G. Andres, Frank O. Gibson, James M. Green and Fred S. Mullin, all of Midland, and Atty. Edwin M. Wallover of Beaver. They will be honored at the post's anniversary dinner in March.

Plans were made to attend the Christmas party for veterans at the Deshon Hospital in Butler Dec. 21, sponsored by district posts.

Donations were made to the Beaver County Salvation Army and the Beaver County Christmas Seal fund.

Woodrow Pflugh, Americanism chairman, announced that flags still are on sale and may be purchased by contacting him or any post member.

Steve Crano and Pflugh, co-chairmen of the annual toy project, reported progress but said that many more toys are needed to take care of the long list of names for this year.

Crano, who also is chairman of the post's Sons of the Legion, announced that the boys will meet Saturday night at the post home and make final plans for a skating party Dec. 14 and a Christmas party Dec. 21.

Next post meeting is Dec. 16.

Police Arrest One, Get Two 'Prisoners'

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Springfield police arrested one man Tuesday night and got two "prisoners."

Deaf-mute Merle E. Stitzel, 45, of Springfield was charged with driving while intoxicated and failure to stop within the assured clear distance as a result of an accident.

Police were baffled as to what to do with his passenger, because the rider refused to be separated from his friend.

They finally did the only thing possible—master (Stitzel) and "man's best friend" (Stitzel's faithful dog) went to jail.

In Search For GOP Nominee

Kennedy Death May Put Ike Into Political Scene

By JACK BELL
A.P. Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political upheaval caused by the assassination of President Kennedy may project former President Eisenhower actively into the search for a 1964 GOP presidential nominee.

Eisenhower has disclaimed any desire to become a kingmaker. But associates who have talked to him since Kennedy's death say the former president recognizes that the Republican situation has changed so rapidly as to invite efforts to get the kind of moderate candidate he believes can win.

Eisenhower has opposed public discussion of political matters at this time. He was reported to have suggested it might be well for Republicans to preserve an air of bipartisanship longer into the new year than they had planned by postponing a series of scheduled Jan. 29 closed-circuit television fund-raising dinners.

With his treasury bare, however, national chairman William E. Miller ruled that the dinners will go on as scheduled. Eisenhower, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon are to be among the speakers.

Before Kennedy's death, the Republican nomination scramble was developing rapidly into a two-man contest between Goldwater and Rockefeller. It was a poorly kept secret that Eisenhower didn't view this prospect with any enthusiasm, but there wasn't much he could do about it.

The death of Kennedy and the elevation of Lyndon B. Johnson to the presidency changed things. Goldwater supporters had figured their man had a chance of beating Kennedy by carrying the South and some of the more conservative states in the Midwest and West. Now he would be facing a Texas president with an image more conservative than Kennedy's.

If Goldwater decides to get into the race—and there now is some doubt that he will — it probably would take him time to work up the same head of steam against Johnson that he maintained in flailing away at Kennedy's policies.

The substitution of Johnson for Kennedy weakened Goldwater's position in the South, where he was strongest. Ordinarily the Democratic change would have been expected to help Rockefeller, promising Republicans a better chance of carrying New York.

But even some of the governor's supporters concede privately that his political fortunes do not seem to be recovering from his divorce and remarriage.

In such a situation there is a feeling that if Eisenhower and his friends of the National Republican Citizens Committee can find a suitable candidate in the next couple of months the way would be open for the type of buildup that made Wendell T. Willkie the nominee in 1940.

Nixon, of course, remains in the forefront of possible contenders. While he has praised Nixon as well qualified, the impression remains that Eisenhower would rather turn to another for the 1964 race.

Agricultural Groups To Conduct Institutes

LISBON — The Columbiana-Mahoning farm production and management institutes traditionally conducted during the winter months for area producers will be held again this year, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

The planning committees have released the following dates:

Jan. 2 — Columbiana - Mahoning Horticultural Society's annual meeting; Jan. 8 — Soils and Crops Institute; Jan. 15 — Greenhouse Florists Institute; Jan. 22 — Berry Institute; Feb. 5, Dairy Institute; Feb. 12 — Potato Institute; Feb. 19 — Orchard Institute; March 4 — beef producers' banquet, and April 2, — Tri-County sheep producers banquet.

The program for each is being planned by a committee of producers in co-operation with the Co-operative Extension Service and the public is invited.

East End Legion Post Sons' Group Installs

Officers of Squadron 374, Sons of the Legion, headed by Dennis H. Smith Jr., were installed and members obligated by Dwight Bush of North Georgetown, 10th District commander, at a joint meeting of American Legion Post 374 and auxiliary Monday night.

The annual Christmas party for the children was set Dec. 21, at 4:30 p.m. at the post home in East End.

Kenneth Brooks, first vice commander, reported post membership at 410. Lunch was served by the kitchen committee. It was announced that the Big Five would provide music for the dance Saturday evening.

Next meeting is Monday night. Robert Landfried, commander, presided.

Shopper Bilked Out Of $1,950 By 2 Strangers

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Christmas shopper told police she was bilked out of $1,950 Tuesday by two strangers who enticed her into a fast card game.

Mrs. Susie Glover, 43, said she had withdrawn $150 from her savings account to do some early holiday shopping.

She said the two men met her at the bank and eventually talked her into the card game, letting her win. But to collect her winnings, she said, she had to withdraw $1,800 from the bank to show she could have paid them if she had lost. The card playing was in Mrs. Glover's car, police said.

"Boy, I didn't know you'd have that kind of money," one of the men said. "Here, let me put all your money and your winnings in this clean handkerchief."

She gave him the money and he tightly knotted the handkerchief. Mrs. Glover went home and untied it. But her money, she told police, had been replaced for a neatly folded newspaper page that felt like a pad of bills.

The newspaper was a financial page from the Wall Street Journal.

Shoppers Receive Tips

Radeschi Gives Warning On Crime In Yule Season

Warning shoppers and merchants alike, Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi reminded today that criminals always reap their biggest harvest in the busy Christmas season.

The chief issued tips to shoppers to help them guard against petty thieves, particularly pickpockets. He also warned merchants and their employes against burglars, counterfeiters and bad check passers.

Chief Radeschi pointed out that several women shoppers were victimized by pick-pockets about a week ago in the downtown area. In every instance, the thief opened the woman's purse and removed a wallet containing currency. The thefts appeared to be the work of professionals, he said.

The pickpockets generally edge against a woman shopper in a crowded store, jostle her to divert attention and then open the clasp of the pocketbook and remove the wallet, the chief said. Women shoppers should hold their purses in front of their bodies in plain view, not dangling from an arm, he said.

The first series of thefts came shortly after distribution of the annual Christmas Club checks, the chief pointed out. Another series is likely to occur next Tuesday, payday at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., he warned.

Christmas shoppers should park their cars in well-lighted spots and make certain they are locked, he said. If packages are left in the car, they should be locked in the trunk, he said. In that way, prospective thieves cannot see the merchandise. Forcing open an auto trunk is more difficult than breaking a window to unlock a door, he added.

The chief said two plainclothesmen will be assigned to the business district in the holiday rush to help hold down thievery, including shop-lifting.

Store personnel should be particularly careful against accepting counterfeit currency or phony checks, the chief said.

In cashing a check, merchants should be certain they know the endorser personally, he added. Both counterfeiters and check-passers often taken advantage of the Christmas rush, he pointed out.

Merchants should bank money at the end of each business day instead of keeping large sums in the stores overnight as an invitation to burglars, he said.

In closing the store at night, merchants should check to be certain no would-be thief is hiding on the premises, he added. Restrooms and stockrooms should be checked particularly, he added.

Officers Cite Man, 39, For 3-Way Crash

Police cited a 39-year-old motorist after a three-way collision Tuesday afternoon on E. 4th St. near Central School.

Marion E. Wright of Dayton was charged with failure to stop within the assured clear distance after his 1962 four-door sedan hit the rear of a 1955 two-door driven by Lewis H. Varner, 42, of 116 E. Church Ln. and drove it forward into the rear of a 1960 two-door sedan driven by Irene Baumgarner, 31, of 1135 Ohio Ave.

Police said the East End woman was halted while students entered Central School. Varner was slowing to halt behind her when his car was struck from the rear and shoved into the Baumgarner car, police said. The mishap was timed at 1:02.

Arraigned shortly afterward before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, Wright pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs.

A youngster moved the gear shift of an idling car on E. 6th St. Tuesday at 6:35 p. m., causing it to move backward and hit a parked auto, police said.

The 1958 convertible of Margaret Curtis, 51, of 1784 Clark Ave., Wellsville, moved backward and hit a parked 1953 two-door owned by Cecil E. Cook, 332 10th St., Wellsville, officers said.

The woman said she was seated in her car with a small boy and started the motor to operate the heater and warm the auto. The child shoved the gear selector into reverse, causing it to ram the car behind, police said.

A mishap at 4:08 p. m. yesterday in Potters Ln. at Broadway damaged a 1960 two-door operated by Frederick T. Burrows, 66, of 116 Potters Ln. and a 1961 four-door driven by Dorothy E. Cline, 38, of Sherwood Ave., police said. Burrows was operating a car owned by Jack Horsley of Sunset Dr., officers.

Testimony Continues In False Arrest Case

LISBON — Testimony continued today before Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in a civil action in which Milton Schulman of University Heights seeks $75,000 damages, alleging unlawful arrest in a case that dates back to Sept. 5, 1954.

Defendants are George Bodirnea Jr. of Salem, Felix Butch of Lisbon, a former justice of the peace, and State Patrolman Thomas Davis, formerly stationed in Salem and now on duty on the Ohio Turnpike.

The plaintiff alleges Bodirnea made a complaint against him to the patrol, resulting in his arrest on traffic charges by the patrol. Butch bound the defendand to the Grand Jury, which indicted him. A jury acquitted him Nov. 10, 1954, on charges of reckless driving, driving left of center and failure to observe yellow lines.

4 Lettermen, One Surprise Make Up Potter Starting Five

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Midland, Alliance At M-A For Season Openers

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Four lettermen from last year's squad, plus a surprise from the reserve ranks last year, will make up East Liverpool's starting lineup for Friday night's curtain-raiser with Midland at Memorial Auditorium.

Coach Jim Harris' squad jumps right into the thick of the basketball season on the first weekend in entertaining Midland, which could be a power in the WPIAL this year. Alliance is Saturday's foe in the first Big 8 Conference game of the campaign. Both tilts are scheduled for the MA floor.

EVALUATING his 1963-64 edition, Harris said "potentially this club is better than our squad last year, but last season's record of 6-12 was not quite a true picture; we lost a lot of close games."

Asked why the Potters dropped so many close ones, Harris said "size was a big factor".

—:—

SINCE HARRIS returned to his alma mater four seasons ago, he has been faced year after year with the same problem—no big man.

The Potters have been scrappy, but as the games wore on they tired because they had to battle against superior height.

Harris will start the biggest center he has had at ELHS in Randy Stover, a 6-4 senior who was not a regular last year but saw enough action to win a letter.

WHETHER Stover can solve the Potters' height problem is not certain. "Randy seems to have improved over last year and we hope he can be of help on the boards. He is our big man and without him we won't have a chance against other teams who have any size. He has developed a hook shot which has helped him, but he is still not smooth on inside shooting," Harris said.

The Potter coach named Stover, along with veterans Frank McComas, Bob Forzano and Dave Bowersock, as starters Friday. The fifth man is the surprise so far this season in junior Frank Taylor, who hits an even 6 feet.

Looking over his starting five Harris had this to say:

MCCOMAS — "Frank stands 6 feet and has all the equipment to be a good ballplayer. He has good moves and is a good jumper. His biggest fault is that he has the tendency not to shoot enough. We have been urging him to shoot more."

FORZANO — Bob goes very close to the 6-foot mark and has shown steady improvement over last year. He is a good hustler and is very aggressive. Not a glamorous player, but he gets the job done."

BOWERSOCK — Dave is only 5-6, but is aggressive. He is quick moving and does everything well, but just doesn't have the size. He has been quite adequate in scrimmage games so far."

TAYLOR — "Frank is our big surprise. He grew several inches during the summer and stands 6 feet now. He didn't play regular on the reserve team last year but made the big jump. He is aggressive on the boards and a good scrapper. His shooting is decent. He needs a few games to get adjusted."

Harris is considering only eight boys for varsity duty this season. The other three are Bob Maltarich, a junior, and seniors Bill Hall and Bob Mercer.

"MALTARICH (6-1) will be our first line replacement. He would add height to the lineup, especially if I used him in place of Bowersock. He can play inside or outside and is a good shooter. His biggest problem now is lack of speed," Harris pointed out.

"Hall (6-1) is another who can play inside and out. He is a fair shooter and has been very aggressive on the boards. He is primarily an inside man, but we have been working him on the outside."

"MERCER has good speed and is a good jumper for his size. He stands (5-9) but isn't a good ball handler for an outside man."

"We'll do or die with these eight kids, but there could be some surprises among the juniors and sophomores. I have my eye on a couple of underclassmen who are inexperienced, but we'll see how they progress. I feel we have a good looking sophomore group this year."

HARRIS fears that most of East Liverpool's opponents this season will be tough. "The majority of the teams we face have most of their regulars back from last year," he added.

He was quick to point to Midland, which has four starters in the fold, along with Big 8 foes Massillon, Steubenville Big Red and Canton McKinley.

Weirton and New Philadelphia have their complete lineups returning and Harris didn't even have to mention that Weirton had Ron (Fritz) Williams around for another season. That's something an opposing coach doesn't like to think about.

Harris also pointed out that North Hancock, a new local rivalry for the Potters, "should be tough this year".

Midland Rips Ellwood City

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Brown's 21 Paces 63-45 Decision

By ANDY NUZZO

After a dismal opening game performance in which the Midland Leopards edged Coraopolis by a mere four points, Hank Kuzma's outfit came to life and handed the high-scoring and previously unbeaten Ellwood City Wolverines a 63-45 setback before some 700 fans at Midland last night.

The Leopards combined a smooth offense, a tight defense and excellent rebounding in recording their second win of the young campaign.

Butler Hennon's quint came to the den of the Leopards with a 3-0 record and a 74-point per game scoring average. When they departed, their record was blemished and their scoring average suffered a big cut.

Three Midland starters scored in double figures to lead the Leopard attack. Ron Brown, a 6-3 junior, was high with 21 points. He meshed nine field goals and three of nine free throws. He did the majority of his scoring from underneath the basket.

Junior Sim Hill, 6-4½, added 11 markers on three fielders and five of six charity tosses. Senior Rod Alston, 6-1, chipped in with four field goals and two of three free throws for 10 points.

It was Hill, Brown and Alston who handled the majority of the Leopard rebounding. Midland picked off twice as many stray shots as the Wolverines, 50-25, and the trio of Leopards accounted for 33 of the total.

Hill was high with 15, Brown added 10 and Alston, eight.

Ellwood's three high scorers, Tony DeLisio, Bob Fusco and Al DeFrischia, were covered very well by the pesky Leopard defense.

In their first three ball games, Delisio, Fusco and DeFrischia, scored in double figures.

Last night, DeLisio was the only Wolverine player to reach double figures and garnered 12 points.

Midland's defensive whiz, junior Norman Vanlier, was assigned the job of guarding DeLisio and he performed capably.

Hill, Brown, Alston and Bill Haggerty also turned in fine defensive efforts for the Leopards.

It was Hill and Brown who were largely responsible for stopping Fusco and DeFrischia.

Fusco, who sat out a good part of the first half because of personal foul trouble, only managed four markers. DeFrischia tossed in a lone field goal early in the game and that was all the scoring he did for the evening. He sat out the final period with four personals.

Ellwood had a better shooting percentage from the field than did the Leopards. The Wolverines sank 18 of 51 shots for 35 per cent while Midland canned 23 of 71 attempts for 32 per cent.

The opening period was a nip and tuck affair and Ellwood managed to jump in front three times, by one point each time.

Midland went in front to stay with a little more than two minutes remaining in the first quarter at 8-7 when Brown stuffed in a rebound.

At the close of the initial period, Kuzma's charges held a slim 12-9 lead, increased it to 32-17 at the half and 43-26 at the three-quarter mark.

Twice in the final period, Midland managed to open its lead to 20 points.

The Ellwood City JV's gained a split for the evening by beating the Midland reserves, 48-37, in the prelim. Bill Donnelly led the winners with 15 points. Bud Adkins sparked Midland with nine.

Friday the Leopards will invade Memorial Auditorium as the East Liverpool Potters kickoff their 1963-64 season.

Navy Has Roger Plus Fine Supporting Cast For Army

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy will feature not only quarterback Roger Staubach, but an unusually strong supporting cast when the Middies seek their fifth straight victory over Army in Philadelphia Saturday.

Coach Wayne Hardin, who has spent most of this year promoting Staubach as the nation's outstanding college football player, talked Tuesday about the teammates who helped him win the Heisman Trophy.

Most off them have played in Staubach's shadow. Several probably would have picked up post-season honors on their own had it not been for publicity surrounding the spectacular quarterback.

Chief among the "other guys" who have boosted Navy to No. 2 national ranking and have gone virtually unnoticed is Pat Donnelly, 200-pound junior fullback from Maumee, Ohio, the team's leading ground gainer for two straight seasons.

Another number you might watch in the Navy backfield Saturday in addition to Staubach's 12 and Donnelly's 38 is the 48 worn by stumpy left half John Sai.

Sai, a senior from Oakdale, Calif., will be playing his last Army-Navy game. He is a 9.7 sprinter on the track team and dashed 93 yards for a touchdown through the Duke line to clinch a 38-25 Navy victory in its last game before Army. He is Navy's leading scorer with 10 touchdowns and is called to get the short yardage when it's needed.

Staubach's leading pass receiver is Ed (Skip) Orr, a 183-pound junior from Wantagh, New York, who has caught 23 passes for 301 yards and one touchdown.

Coach Hardin said his first string ends, Jim Campbell of Homestead, Pa. and Dave Sjuggerud of Menominie, Wis., "give us the two best ends we've ever had here as a unit."

Hardin was equally lavish in praise of tackles Jim Freeman of Denison, Tex., and Pat Philbin of Woodside, N.Y., guards Alr Krekich of Passaic, N.J. and Fred Marlin of Woodbury, N.J. and Tom Lynch, the center and team captain from Lima, Ohio.

"All of them have played good football all year, and I could not go on naming others," he said.

East Junior Wins Opener

East Junior kept a step in front of Beaver Local to gain a narrow 44-38 decision Tuesday in the opening game for both teams on the East End court.

The Panthers led 17-15 at halftime and owned a 30-26 margin after three periods.

Vern Smith with 15 points plus an 11-point effort by Jim Gooding sparked the East End five.

Beaver Local's balanced attack was paced by Barnhart with 14 points while Hall added 10 and Lyle nine.

South Side Falls 77-71 At Bethany

BETHANY — South Side's late bid fell short as the Rams dropped their third straight contest of the season, 77-71, to Bethany here Tuesday night.

Trailing 44-28 at halftime, South Side cut the margin to 65-53 at the end of the third period but failed to catch up in the final eight minutes.

Coach Dave Nichol saw his sophomore standout Dave Ashcroft score 21 points to lead the South Side five. Bill Powell added 16 to the attack and Jerry Skolnekovich added 11.

Reck of Bethany led all scorers as he poured in 33 points on 12 fielders and nine fouls. He received support from Puskarich who added 18.

South Side travels to West Allegheny Friday night.

The Bethany reserves defeated the South Side jayvees, 65-53.

Waterford Plans For Night Racing

James F. Edwards, president of Waterford Park, announced Wednesday night that his track will switch over to night racing next summer.

A new lighting system at the Hancock County plant should be completed by June 1, Edward said.

Waterford will launch its 1964 season with daylight racing in March.

The installation of lights will make Waterford Park the second mile track in the country operating at night. The other is Fairmount Park near St. Louis.

Edwards also announced the opening of a private club—the Cap and Whip—which will be located in the new clubhouse.

"It will be strictly a private club and will have no official connection with Waterford Park. Applications for membership will be screened and voted upon. There will be no admission to the club simply because some people are guests in the clubhouse. The Cap and Whip will admit only those who are members with paid up cards," Edwards said.

Giants, Braves Complete 7-Player Swap

Alou Chief Figure In Big Trade

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP)—"The perfect trade."

This is what baseball observers called the seven-player swap that sent Milwaukee catcher Del Crandall and pitchers Bob Hendley and Bob Shaw to the San Francisco Giants for star outfielder Felipe Alou, catcher, Ed Bailey, pitcher Billy Hoeft and a fourth player to be named later.

The transaction completed Tuesday night was the second major trade made at the winter baseball meetings, which moves from the present minor league headquarters here to Los Angeles Thursday for the major league sessions.

Giants and Braves officials expressed complete satisfaction with the trade, which they claimed filled in all the spots.

The rival managers were no less enthusiastic.

"We've got a more versatile club than any time since I've been manager," said the Braves' Bobby Bragan. "This really gives us some punch. We picked up 150 RBIs and 41 home runs. Now I think we've got the best 1-2 catcher combination in baseball with Joe Torre and Bailey."

"We gave up a good ball player (Alou) to get two pitchers. Hendley and Shaw are the heart of the deal. But now, with Crandall, we've also got left (Tom Haller) and right-handed hitting catchers," said Giants' skipper Alvin Dark.

Alou was the big man in the deal. The 28-year-old right-handed hitting slugger batted .281 with 20 home runs and 82 runs batted in last season. He will play center field for the Braves, flanked by Henry Aaron in right and either Lee Maye or Eddie Mathews in left.

Bailey, a 32-year-old left-handed hitting All-Star catcher, had 21 homers and 68 RBIs on a .263 batting average.

Hoeft, a 31-year-old southpaw, nursed a sore shoulder all last season and pitched only 24 innings.

Hendley, 24, had a 9-9 record with a 3.94 earned run average. He hurled three shutouts and has much promise.

Sahw, 30-year-old right-handed starter turned reliever last season, finished with a 7-11 record, but posted a 2.66 ERA in 48 games, striking out nearly twice as many as he walked.

Crandall, 33, batted .201 in 86 games. He is a veteran of 14 years in the National League with five years as an All-Star.

College Boys Hitting 100 Mark Early

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

No, they haven't lowered the basket, widened the hoop or streamlined the ball, but college basketball's new timing rule may have served the same purpose—ushering in an era of the 100-point game.

Where 100-point games used to be fairly rare, they have become rather common in the first few days of the 1963-64 season. All is as it was before, the teams, the players, the arenas and the equipment. Only the rules have been changed.

The new rule dictates that the clock will stop automatically when the ball goes out-of-bounds. This apparently is adding actual playing time, and providing more time to score. Even against the usual, early-season opposition, witness Tuesday night's proceedings:

—Sixth-ranked Arizona State, admittedly strong, rolled up 121 points to 79 for a New Mexico Western team not in the same class, but hardly considered a weak opponent.

—Miami of Florida whipped Tampa 101-95, Auburn walloped Howard 102-44 and Oklahoma thumped South Dakota 100-79, with the Sooners setting a school record.

—Baylor missed the 100-mark by two points in beating Arlington State 98-74, but ran up its highest point total in history.

—And Oklahoma State, Hank Iba's slow-down types for whom 50 is a harvest, defeated Southern Illinois 83-54 for their fifth highest score in history.

—For three days of action, 16 major college teams now have hit 100 or more points. West Texas State is tops so far, with 126.

They weren't all like that Tuesday.

Tenth-ranked Oregon State defeated Washington State 75-58, Minnesota needed a second half rally to down Iowa State 61-50, Vanderbilt came with a closing rush to subdue SMU 79-60 and Stanford downed Oregon 83-65 as Tom Dose collected 26 points.

Clemson went into double overtime before edging North Carolina 66-64 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game on Mike Bohonak's jump shot with two seconds left. Willie Somerset's 28 points and final two foul shots with 10 seconds left carried Duquesne to an 83-79 decision over St. Francis, Pa., and Seton Hall edged Catholic U. 69-67 in overtime on Richie Dek's tap in at the buzzer.

Broncos Sign End

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Broncos of the American Football League said Tuesday night they had signed Matt Snorton, 6-foot-4, 245 pound end from Michigan State.

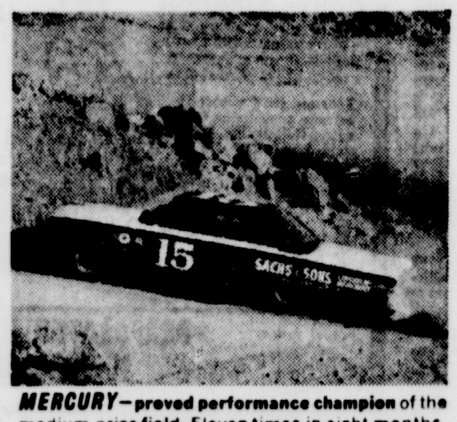
Performance champions from Daytona to... Riverside

COMET—world's 100,000-mile durability champion. At Daytona, Florida, a team of '64 Comets, specially equipped and prepared for high-speed driving each travelled 100,000 miles, each at over 105 miles per hour. It was the toughest test of stamina and staying power a new car ever faced. Each Comet was driven day and night for approximately 950 hours. For the lead car, only six hours were spent in pit stops for such items as refueling.



MERCURY—proved performance champion of the medium-price field. Eleven times in eight months, Mercurys—modified and specially equipped like their competitors—have topped all comers in the medium-price field . . . in events like the Golden State "400" at Riverside. The same basic engineering excellence that has helped establish both Comet and Mercury as performance champions is yours in every new Comet and Mercury.

Wilt Comes Off Sick Bed, Paces Warrior Victory

By The Associated Press

Wilt Chamberlain appears to have beaten the bug that threatened to end his string of 359 consecutive National Basketball Association games in New York Tuesday night.

Whether the Knickerbockers, trimmed by Wilt's San Francisco Warriors, 116-108, in the NBA's only action, can recover from their major ailment—losing—is another question.

Chamberlain, bedded by a heavy chest cold prior to the Warriors-Knicks game, came off the sick list to play 41 minutes, score 21 points and haul in 22 rebounds.

In tonight's game San Francisco visits St. Louis, New York journeys to Detroit and Los Angeles is at Baltimore.

Fight Results

FRESNO, Calif. — Isaac Logart, 146, New York, outpointed Frankie Ramirez, 147, Los Angeles, 10.

NEW YORK—Ossie Marcano, 157¾, Puerto Rico, stopped Wally Henderson, 158¾, Jersey City, 2.

LEEDS, England—Tony Lewis, England, outpointed Wilson Harris, Chicago, 8. Welterweights.

SAN JOSE, Calif.—Luis Molina, 141, San Jose, knocked out Tony Noriega, 138, Bakersfield, Calif., 6.

HONOLULU — Denny Moyer, 154¼, Portland, Ore., outpointed Hurricane Kid, 154, San Francisco, 10.

Brown, YAT Set Records

NEW YORK (AP) — Y. A. Tittle and Jimmy Brown each snapped one of the more coveted records in the National Football League book Sunday, and retained their leads in NFL passing and rushing.

Johnny Unitas of Baltimore made the biggest advance in the statistical tables, released today. He jumped from fourth to second among the passers, on a fine performance against the Washington Redskins.

Old Y. A. threw two touchdown passes as the New York Giants scratched out a comeback victory over the Dallas Cowboys, and set a career record in that department. He now has 197, one more than Bobby Layne threw in a long career at New York, Detroit and Pittsburgh.

Brown ran for 179 yards in the big Cleveland victory over St. Louis, and made his season total 1,677, with two games left. He set the old record, 1,527 yards in 1958.

Brown also scored twice to take over the scoring lead with 90 points on 15 touchdowns.

Bobby Joe Conrad of St. Louis remained the leading pass receiver with 60 for 763 yards. Bobby Mitchell of Washington has the most yardage, 1,140 and Terry Barr of Detroit leads in touchdown passes with 11.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Actor, Playboy, Counterfeiter

I was told by an eager-beaver press agent that Morgan Mason, 8-year-old son of Pamela and James Mason, was making his TV acting debut on NBC'S "Suspense Theater" Thursday night at 10.

Hal Humphrey

"So you're making your dramatic debut on TV?" I said to young Morgan, who is a ringer for his famous father.

"No, I'm not," said Morgan, with a faint tone of impatience. "I was a hound dog on Joey Bishop's show two years ago, and when I was 18 months old I did a 'Panic' show."

—:—

"WHEN DID YOU really decide to become an actor?"

"Well, I've always liked acting. It looked like fun. But I didn't decide to be an actor until I was 6."

"Yes," affirmed his mother, Pamela, rather wistfully. "That was before he became so bombastic and domineering."

Morgan, who can't weigh more than 60 pounds, doesn't look the slightest bit domineering. He did admit to feeling under the weather on the afternoon I talked with him.

"I got sick at bowling last night," he said.

"Of course you did," injected Pamela. "You ate 14 hot dogs."

—:—

"HOW LONG have you been bowling?" I inquired.

"Since I was 2. My high game is 234."

"Morgan!" exploded his mother. "How can you say such things?"

"It's true— I swear," said Morgan, matter of factly.

Besides bowling, Morgan indulges in magic, plays the drums and when not absorbed in those activities likes to print money ("It's a machine I have").

He also drinks "an occasional bottle of beer" and owns two cars which he drives himself.

"He can only drive them on the tennis court," explained Pamela, "much to the menace of our cats, I might add."

—:—

IF MORGAN has any other vices, he was not talking about them. Until recently he was going around with an older woman named Lisa — aged 9 — but since she was not interested in a 10-speed bicycle Morgan plans to purchase soon, he dropped her.

He has a color TV set, a hi-fi and radio in his room and a large bag of assorted trick-or-treat candy under his bed.

"When I'm 16 I want a Jaguar, then a Rolls Royce limousine when I'm 25. I was going to get a 150-foot yacht, but decided it takes too much crew, so now I'm going to get a 65-footer like Ricky's," Morgan stated.

"How did this friend Ricky come by a 65-foot yacht?" I asked.

"HIS FATHER owns Union Oil Co.," replied Morgan, which apparently to him seemed explanation enough.

If Morgan is going to acquire all these additional gadgets, he will have to do so on his own— at least as far as Pamela is concerned.

"I believe both Morgan and his sister, Portland, should wait in line at auditions like everyone else," said Pamela, after I asked if she helped her offspring in their careers.

"I don't go on the set while they're working. It would be wrong for me to fight for them in that way."

—:—

ON THE STRENGTH of Morgan's performance for this week's "Suspense Theater," he got the role of Jeremy, one of the only two kids in a frontier school in Trinidad, Colo., on this week's "Great Adventure" series CBS, Friday, 7:30 p.m.

"I tried out as Mickey Rooney's son in a new TV series, but I haven't heard any more about it. I'd like to be in a TV series," concluded Morgan, still trying to patch up his hot dog hangover with a double pop.

His 15-year-old sister, Portland, I was told by Pamela, temporarily has sidetracked her career as an actress and is turning authoress. She's currently writing a book which she has titled "Honor Thy Father and Mother, If You Can."

Rhodes Hears President's Budget Aims

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has told Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio and eight other governors that the new federal budget may go above $100 billion.

The Ohio governor said the budget came up Tuesday at a luncheon meeting of Johnson and the nine members of the Executive Council of the National Governors' Conference.

Rhodes told reporters that Johnson said budget requests totaled $108 billion. If the budget goes over $100 billion it would represent a new peacetime mark.

The late President John F. Kennedy's $98.8 - billion budget submitted to Congress last January set the previous peacetime peak.

Johnson mentioned last year's budget was over $98 billion and said the new one may be higher, Rhodes declared.

"It may go above $100 billion," Rhodes quoted Johnson as saying.

Governors who attended the luncheon said Johnson asked for their cooperation in his efforts to achieve national unity. The President appointed a White House assistant to serve as liaison man with state chief executives.

Economy has been a keynote of the new Johnson administration. The President has been urging cabinet officers to try to trim requests for the fiscal 1965 budget he will send Congress next month.

Rhodes said the governors "pledged our general cooperation" with the new administration.

The Governor's Council invited the President to speak at the Governors Conference scheduled for Cleveland June 7-9.

The President said he could not make a firm commitment now.

Pennsy To Purchase More Shares In Firm

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad says it intends to buy more shares in Buckeye Pipe Line Co.—which has some 7,500 miles of pipe in Ohio and six neighboring states — when it likes the price.

Last week, the railroad announced acquisition of a 30 per cent stock interest in the pipe line company. PRR's Finance Committee Chairman David C. Bevan did not indicate what price of stock the railroad would consider satisfactory.

2 Ohio Cities Cited

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Ohio cities showed excellent records regarding traffic - connected deaths in a report issued by the National Safety Council Tuesday. In the population group from 750,000 to 1 million, Cleveland recorded 2.9 deaths in the last 10 months per 10,000 registered vehicles. In the 50,000 to 100,000 category, Cuyahoga Falls reported no deaths.

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Three children, Jeremy, Sissy and Miss Jo, were alone in their house when a Storyteller came by and offered to tell them a story.

CHAPTER TWO

Once upon a time, began the Storyteller, there lived an evil Bugaboo in far away Santa Land.

"Oh, no," said Sissy, sitting at the Storyteller's feet. "Only good creatures live in Santa Land. They are Santa's helpers. Even the imps and goblins are good."

"Hush, Sissy," said Jeremy, poking her with his elbow. "He knows the story."

The Storyteller opened his eyes and gazed at Sissy. "You are right," he said gently. "Only good creatures live in Santa Land ordinarily. But it is not always so. And the time I am telling about there was a very wicked Bugaboo there."

—:—

MISS JO gripped brother Jeremy's arm and swallowed. "W-what was his name?"

"Nog," said the Storyteller. He closed his eyes and was silent as though he had been overcome by the very name of the wicked fiend. Finally, he began again.

In the first place, he said, Nog did not belong in Santa Land. He had always been a problem Bugaboo. The Queen Fairy who is responsible for these things placed him in Santa Land because she simply didn't know what else to do with him.

She tried having him work in the Weather Factory which manufactures storms, but Nog was always fouling things up.

He pushed buttons that made snow storms in August. He sent showers of hail down at inappropriate moments — like at someone's special birthday party. And one time he hid the key to the sun closet and the sun didn't shine for seven whole weeks. Not once.

—:—

OF COURSE, you can't have things like that going on, so the Queen Fairy sent Nog to work with the Halloween witches, thinking if he were so tricky he might as well be useful while he was at it.

But Nog did things no spook or ghuol would ever have done. On Halloween he would catch people's cats and hang them up by their tails.

He would take little children's treats away from them and fill up their bags with stones. He would tie up old ladies' doors so they could never get out of their homes — not even if there was a fire.

Well, he was giving the Witches a terrible name, you can imagine, so finally the Witches went to the Queen Fairy and said:

"Look, you have to take Nog back. He's ruining us."

The Queen Fairy was at her wit's end because she didn't know what to do with him. And Bugaboos never die, you know, so Nog was going to be around forever. Then, one day at a party, the Queen Fairy was eating ice cream with Santa Claus and she told him about the problem.

The Queen Fairy was at her wit's end.

SANTA ASKED, "Why don't you send Nog to Santa Land?"

"Oh, my goodness," exclaimed the Queen. "He would absolutely destroy Christmas!"

Santa took a second helping of peppermint ice cream. When he had finished it he wiped his mouth with a big red handkerchief and said cheerfully, "I think I can handle him. Why not give it a try?"

There wasn't anything else the Queen Fairy could do but give it a try so she sent Nog off to Santa Land and hoped for the best.

Now Nog was a purple-faced, toothless, hairless, bottle-shaped creature about as high as Santa's knee. Seeing him with Santa — so big and strong and jolly — you really would have thought Santa could handle him.

But oh, my!

"What happened! What happened?" chorused the children. That Bugaboo made a shambles of Santa Land!

None Hurt In Forced Helicopter Landing

NEW YORK (AP) — "It was like landing on a postage stamp," said Stanley Szycher, 42, pilot of a helicopter that made a forced landing atop a Manhattan meat company plant Tuesday.

The Port of New York Authority retrieved its chopper Tuesday night by lowering it from the roof of the four-story building to the ground with a crane.

Szycher, who had three passengers, said the helicopters lost power shortly after leaving the Port Authority Terminal for LaGuardia Field. He landed on the 47x100 foot roof with minor damage to the craft's undercarriage and 38-foot-long rotor blades. The blades clipped a brick penthouse.

No one was hurt.

Purchasing Company

CLEVELAND (AP) — Parker-Hannifin Corp. of Cleveland is in the process of buying for cash the business and assets of Kenmore Machine Products, Inc., of Lyons, N.Y. Parker-Hannifin said Tuesday its acquisition agreement would result in operation of the New York firm as a division with no changes in management, operations or employment planned. Purchase price was not disclosed.

Bergholz Funeral Head To Be Honored

He will observe his 80th birthday anniversary.

$30 Million Expansion Set By J&L Corp.

CLEVELAND (AP)— Another $30 million will be spent next year in expanding and improving Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.'s Cleveland works.

Announcement of the new investment was made Tuesday as the company dedicated a multi-million-dollar giant blast furnace here. It will be used mainly for an 80-inch roughing mill that will be connected with the 80-inch hot strip mill already under construction.

The company said the program next year would virtually complete its plans for rebuilding the Cleveland works, which it took over in 1942.

"This is indeed a new plant in all respects," said Charles M. Beeghly, J&L's chairman and chief executive officer. "This Cleveland program has cost about $300 million, or an average of $40,000 a day for the last 20 years."

Beeghly said J&L also is acquiring more facilities to anneal sheet mill products, temper mills to process them and equipment to slit them, along with other handling, warehousing and shipping facilities during the coming year.

The 258-foot high blast furnace dedicated Tuesday will supply some of the metal for the new mills. Said to be one of the largest in the steel industry, the furnace has an ultimate capacity of 3,500 tons a day, but it will be operated well under that level during its break-in period.

Court To Review Dog Lover Case

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia's Supreme Court will review the case of a dog lover who balked at surrendering his pet for execution.

The court agreed Tuesday to consider the appeal of Jim Laing of Pearisburg, who was fined $1,000 and sentenced to four months in jail. His German shepherd, Ricky, was sentenced to death two years ago in Giles County Circuit Court for sheep killing.

Laing appealed, claiming Ricky did not kill the sheep, but was only standing guard over the carcass.

Twice the U.S. Supreme Court declined to review the case, and Laing was found guilty of contempt when he refused to surrender the dog for execution. He contended he had given Ricky to a friend and could not surrender what was no longer his property.

Ricky, meanwhile, remains safely in an out-of-state hideout.

Service Station Aide Is Stabbed To Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jesse Lyles, 35, of Cleveland, a service station mechanic, was stabbed to death Tuesday night.

Police were holding the 45-year-old owner of the East Side service station. Police said he and Lyles had argued about a money shortage at the station.

Officer Who Had Part In Kennedy Funeral Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capt. Michael D. Groves, 27, who commanded the ceremonial troops in President Kennedy's funeral last week, collapsed and died of undetermined causes Tuesday night.

A spokesman for the Military District of Washington said an autopsy had been ordered.

Groves collapsed while eating dinner at his home in Ft. Myers and was dead on arrival at the base hospital, the spokesman said.

A native of Ann Arbor, Mich., Groves was commanding officer of the Honor Guard Co., 1st Battalion, 3rd Infantry (The Old Guard), stationed at Ft. Myers. His men served as the death watch, casket bearers, caisson escorts, firing party and graveside sentinels for Kennedy's funeral.

Sampling Of Whisky Follows Derailment

ORRVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Some Orrville residents were doing their best to help salvage something out of a 15-car derailment Tuesday night.

When part of a Pennsylvania freight train jumped the tracks, a tank car overturned and an aromatic liquid began leaking out. Investigators found out the tank car had contained 10,000 gallons of whisky.

A spokesman for the railroad said some bystanders were sampling some of the hard stuff. Orrville, by the way, is in Wayne County, where selling whisky by the drink is illegal.

Plan Memorial Site

CLEVELAND (AP)—A four-man committee has been named by Mayor Ralph S. Locher to recommend a site for a suitable memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy. Announcing the committee Tuesday, the mayor said he would make a decision on financing a memorial when a definite site is recommended. He said it likely would be by public subscription, handled through one of the city's banking institutions.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 4, the 338th day of 1963. There are 27 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, the 16-gun brig "Reprisal" first entered European waters and carried Benjamin Franklin incognito to enlist French aid to the colonies against England in the American revolution. The warship was one of the first ships constructed in America.

On this date:

In 1808, Napoleon entered Madrid and suppressed the Spanish Inquisition.

In 1867, a secret association of farmers — the National Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry — was founded at Washington, D.C.

In 1915, auto magnate Henry Ford's Peace Ship sailed for Europe.

In 1934, more than 200 tons of stone fell from beneath Table Rock, Niagara Falls, at the tip of the Horseshow Falls on the Canadian side.

In 1954, Social Democrats won an important election in West Berlin as the Communists made a poor showing.

Ten years ago ... The U.S. State Department asked Canada to make arrangements for the questioning of former Soviet code clerk Igor Gouzenko by Senate Internal Security subcommittee members regarding Russian espionage activities in the United States.

Five years ago ... Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said it was essential to U.S. peace and security to adhere to a firm policy regarding Berlin and Communist China.

One year ago ... Prime Minister Nehru of India said his government expected to receive several jet fighter planes from Russia within a few weeks.

Junior Editors Quiz on REPTILES

QUESTION: Are there any flying reptiles?

ANSWER: If by flying, you mean the ability to rise in the air as a bird can, the answer is no. But if you include the ability to glide down through the air from a higher position to a lower one, the answer is yes. Our upper picture shows the fascinating "Flying Dragons" of Malaysia, small lizards with large flaps of skin stretched between ribs which can be extended to allow them to sail down to some lower part of the trees in which they live. The "wings" are orange with black bars and the "dragons" really look more like large butterflies. These animals are the closest thing to a present day flying reptile.

The bottom picture shows a remarkable creature which lived between 150 and 60 million years ago—the Pteranodon, one of a group of now extinct soaring reptiles called Pterosaurs or Pterodactyls. Pteranodon was a giant, with a wing spread up to 25 feet. The wings were webs of skin stretched from the arm to a greatly enlarged fourth finger and back to the body. Some experts think they scooped up fish. Others think they couldn't fly well enough to do this and believe they lived in trees.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look for pictures of Pterodactyls in books and museums and form your own opinion as to whether they could soar upward after grabbing a fish. Their bodies were very light; maybe they could soar on upward moving currents of air.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child Shouldn't Enter Stores Alone

Yesterday we deplored the prevalence of shoplifting in stores by children. Today let us consider ways to bring up your child so he won't be a shoplifter. Begin with the toddler, teaching him proper care of his things and other things about the home. From then on, educate him to respect the rights and possessions of others, making sure to teach and train him early and continuously to respect the little word No.

Dr. Garry Meyers

When your child two, five or 14 goes into a store with you, train him not to touch or handle anything there unless invited by the clerk to do so or unless he is helping you decide on a purchase.

—:—

GET OVER TO him early a strictly enforced rule — that he shall never enter a store alone or with another child just to browse. Check on him often enough to be sure this rule is not violated.

The first time, and always thereafter, you see him with some article, however small or inexpensive, which he has not bought, go with him to return it to the owner and make or let him see you make amends.

Don't tell him to return the item alone. You can't be sure he will. If the article is returned to a store, your being with the child impresses on him and the store owner how serious you consider the matter to be.

If, however, a storekeeper reports to you that your child has taken something from his store and the child insists he did not take it, also go with your child and let him say so to the owner.

Your child then can see why the storekeeper believed he took the article, especially if he was with another child who has been caught taking something.

Even if you are convinced that your child is not guilty, you must point out to him that if he was in that store without a purpose to buy things and was handling things there, he was doing wrong.

RIGHT THEN and there command the child not to enter this or any other store just to browse for a designated period unless accompanied by a responsible older person. Also, you should say to the clerk, "If you see this child violating this command, please let me know, and he will be duly punished". Then keep your word.

Long before he enters school, talk to your child about respecting the possessions of others. Help him see that when he takes things not his own without permission of the owner he is stealing; he is a thief. Certainly by the time he is six he should understand this.

Perhaps most parents try too hard to avoid the word "stealing" or "thieving" when talking of such matters with the child.

My bulletins "Honest and Truthfulness in Children", "Teaching Child Care of Property" and "How Juvenile Delinquency Can Be Cured" may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Keep In Trim

Brighten The Day With Isometrics

Tell us more about the isometrics that cut exercise time to a few minutes, readers are requesting.

Ida Jean Kain

In isometrics you contract your muscles hard . . .hold the contraction for six seconds, and then release. The new booklet Adult Physical Fitness — A Program for Men and Women, contains a set of isometrics, complete with rules. To quote from the booklet:

"The idea of isometrics is to work out a muscle by pushing and pulling against an immovable object such as a wall, or putting it against the opposition of another muscle.

"THE BASIS IS the 'overload' principle of exercise physiology — which holds that a muscle required to perform work beyond the usual intensity will grow in strength. And research has been indicating that one hard, 6-to-8 second isometric contraction per workout can, over a period of six months, produce a significant strength increase in a muscle.

For the first month you should exert only about one-half of what you think is your maximum force. Also, use the first three or four seconds to build up to the force — and the remaining four or five seconds to hold it. Hold the muscle contraction and do little breathing during it, but breathe deeply between contractions.

NOW FOR SOME isometric exercises:

NECK — Starting position: Sit or stand, with interlaced fingers of hand on forehead. Action: Forcibly exert a forward push of head while resisting equally hard with hands. Starting position: Place interlaced fingers behind head. Action: Push head backward while exerting a forward pull with hands. Starting position: Place palm of left hand on left side of head. Action: Push with left hand while resisting with head and neck. Reverse using right hand on right side of head.

The booklet includes general calisthenics for men and women, and isometrics for major muscle groups of the body.

The booklet Adult Physical Fitness can be obtained from the Government Printing Office, Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. Price 35 cents in money order or check. No stamps.
